THE MARION STAR

FINAL EDITION

VOL. LI, No. 261. ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AT THE POSTOFFICE AT MARION OHIO MARION, OHIO, MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1928 EIGHTEEN PAGES PRICE, THREE CENTS

ONLY 3 SIGN PETITIONS FOR SMITH OUSTER

[illegible] Probability of Vacating Recorder's Office, Is Indication

000 NAMES NEEDED

[illegible] Official May Not Be [illegible] ned Until 1930 Election, Is Belief

[illegible] is today were that the office [illegible] county recorder would go un[illegible] d after a [illegible] official is elected [illegible] 1930 as only three per[illegible] signed petitions [illegible] declaring [illegible] vacant.

[illegible] to oust Charles L. Smith [illegible] recorder were [illegible] Friday afternoon and Saturday [illegible] Prosecuting Attorney Frank [illegible]. The petitions were placed [illegible] offices of the sheriff county surveyor, county treasurer, county auditor, [illegible] recorder and in the prosecutor's office at 104½ West Center st.

1,000 Names Necessary

[illegible] petitions require 1,000 signatures. In drawing the petitions Prosecutor Wiedemann followed a ruling [illegible] Attorney General Edward C. [illegible] in which the method was out[illegible] for declaring a county office [illegible].

[illegible] his term of office does not expire [illegible] Jan 1 1931. According to rulings [illegible] courts he is still holding office [illegible] he has been missing since [illegible]. Precedents set by court de[illegible] give Smith the right to return [illegible] time and claim his salary un[illegible] since he left the city.

Apparently Hopeless

[illegible] it will be practically impossible [illegible] 1,000 signatures to the peti[illegible] unless voters of the county show [illegible] inclination to sign was ap[illegible]. The next move is up to [illegible] Prosecutor Wiedemann [illegible] he can do nothing further [illegible] required number of names has [illegible] attached to the petitions.

[illegible] the state law governing vacant [illegible] office is at fault seems to be [illegible] general opinion in official circles. [illegible] It is current belief that there is [illegible] radically wrong with a [illegible] that makes it so difficult to dis[illegible] a public official who is found to [illegible] in his accounts.

TWO REFRIGERATOR AGENCIES CHANGED

V C Smith Sells Frigidaire Business, Lawrence Co. Buys General Electric

Changes of ownership of two [illegible] refrigerator agencies in Marion were announced today.

[illegible] Frigidaire agency, in charge of V C Smith during the last nine years [illegible] been sold to J J Munsell, of Columbus, and the General Electric [illegible] has been acquired from [illegible] by the Lawrence Auto Supply [illegible]. Both transfers became effective [illegible].

Mr Smith it was announced, will [illegible] soon for Dayton to take a position in the sales education department at the Frigidaire factory.

Mr Munsell new owner of the local Frigidaire agency, is a former Marion [illegible]. He is now distributor of the Frigidaire in Columbus.

He has appointed L P Williams of [illegible] town as local manager. Mr Williams who has arrived to take charge of the business has been connected with the Frigidaire company the last three years.

In the transaction between J [illegible] Rice and the Lawrence Auto Supply [illegible] the Lawrence company [illegible] county distributor for the General [illegible] line of electric refrigerators. Mr Rice who has been the local distributor for the last year has joined [illegible] Lawrence Auto Supply Co sales organization as manager of the refrigeration department. The office and refrigerator stock will be moved from C[illegible] and Baker sts to 1[illegible]7 South St[illegible] the Lawrence company quarters.

SIX PERSONS KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

Victims Members of Wedding Party, Women Are Identified

[illegible] Pa Oct. 1—Six persons [illegible] men and four women, members of [illegible] wedding party bound from Bayonne N J to Philadelphia were killed when their automobile was struck by a fast Pennsylvania railroad express train during the night.

[illegible] of the victims were believed to be Lester Seidel 32 of Bayonne driver of the car and [illegible] W [illegible] also of Bayonne.

[illegible] women were identified today as [illegible] Catherine Riley 51 Marian [illegible] Anna Riley and Sarah Bruch all of Bayonne.

COMPANY PLANS TO OPEN UP MINE AS SENECAVILLE

Cambridge Oct 1—The Cleveland [illegible] of the Cambridge Collieries Co at [illegible]ecaville will be the next plant of [illegible] company to be put into operation [illegible] was announced today following re[illegible]mption of the company's Ideal mine [illegible] day after an idleness of three years. [illegible] plant is operating open shop as [illegible] the company's mines at Shadyside [illegible] county Caldwell Noble [illegible] [illegible] Wilhoudin, Guernsey county.

CARDS FAVORED

Bets on World Series Posted on Broadway

Seven to 10 the Cardinals do not win the series. 11 to 10 the Yankees do not win the series. 12 to 7 the Cardinals do not win the first two games. 10 to 5 the Yankees [illegible] the first two games. 4 [illegible] the Cardinals do not win [illegible] game and [illegible] Yankees do not win opening game.

DRY OFFICERS' CASE BEFORE GRAND JURORS

Continue Inquiry into Shooting of Young Woman Near Lorain

PROBE VICE SITUATION

Bootlegging in County Taken Up in Additional Investigation

Elyria O Oct 1—The Lorain county grand jury was still in session today, considering charges of shooting with intent to wound against three special prohibition officers who last Wednesday night fired on an automobile and wounded Miss Betty Heywood [illegible] of Elyria.

The accused officers are Louis Cecco and Walter Knitter Lorain policemen and Frank Kledy a deputy sheriff. They were stationed at a highway bridge on the Lorain city limits Wednesday night when an automobile occupied by Miss Heywood her father, Richard Heywood and Charles Edwards and his wife and baby daughter passed.

Fear Robbers

When the officers commanded the car to stop Edwards' wife advised him to drive away fearing robbers. Several shots were fired one of them striking Miss Heywood at the base of her skull. Cecco is supposed to have done the shooting.

In addition to the charges against the three officers the county grand jury today had taken up consideration of bootlegging and vice conditions in Lorain and other places of the county. A large number of witnesses among them several women have been called by Prosecutor J A Faul.

Will Recover Is Belief

Miss Heywood is expected to recover according to word from St Joseph's hospital at Lorain. The three officers are at liberty under $1,500 bond each.

The possibility of international complications in the case [illegible] remote today. Miss Heywood and her father are both subjects of Great Britain but the father says he will not appeal to British authorities and is content to leave the matter to American courts.

BLAME RACKETEERS FOR DYNAMITE BLAST

Third Bombing in Four Days Occurs in Cleveland, Dye Shop Damaged

Cleveland Oct 1—A dynamite bomb placed at the side of a dry cleaning establishment here early today tore a large hole in the side of the building and apparently injured someone since bloodstains were found on the wall.

It was the third bombing here in four days two homes having been damaged by blasts last week.

The latest explosion occurred shortly after 1 o'clock this morning at the Clean Rite Co in the southeastern part of the city. The company has set up a low scale of prices and police believe racketeers or possibly rival cleaners were responsible for the bombing.

The explosive believed to have been dynamite was suspended by a string from a pipe running along the outside wall. Several tanks of benzol a highly inflammable and explosive cleaning fluid were just inside and the bombers apparently intended to ignite these. Had they succeeded a terrific explosion and general fire in the neighborhood would have resulted police say.

Detectives were checking with hospitals and doctors today. The bloodstains indicate that one of the bombers was hurt by his own device they believe.

SCHOOL PLANS EXPLAINED BY SUPT. MASON

Says No Decision Has Been Made on Disposal of Any Present Sites

ADDRESSES ROTARY

Central Junior High Needed for Several Years, No Sale Now Being Considered

[illegible] In connection with the recent announcement of proposed plans for the $750,000 school building program here was [illegible] at [illegible] by School Superintendent Jesse H Mason in an address at the [illegible] meeting of members of the Rotary club today noon at Hotel Harding.

The question regards disposition of school-owned property when erection of new buildings has made possible evacuation of several inadequate buildings in use at the present time.

In discussion, the question Mr Mason said in part: "The Marion board of education has made only one decision with reference to Central Junior high and such other undesirable and inadequate schools as will be evacuated here when the building of new schools and rebuilding of others in use at the present time have made possible their evacuation for school purposes. That is, as the age of Central Junior high, present condition and unsatisfactory location of the school are such that it seems unwise to add to or rebuild it the building will be in use as it stands until the erection of a new Senior high school within the next 10 years.

Will Provide for Transfer

"The erection of a new senior high will leave Harding high school vacant for use of pupils now being sent to Central Junior High school. Disposition of the site of Junior high school building grounds at that time will be left to the citizenship of Marion to decide through their representatives then serving on the board of education.

The building program as announced by the board members provides for a new grade school in the eastern section of the city a new junior high school in the southwestern section and additions to Glenwood, Mark [illegible] and North Main street schools. Also for purchase of a senior high school site on which to build a new high in the next five or 10 years when the necessity arises," Mr. Mason continued.

Building of a junior high school in the southwestern section of the city fits into the general plan since temporarily it will be used as a combination junior senior high school relieving Harding high of its present congestion to the extent that a new senior high need not be built for five or 10 years depending upon the growth in the school population during that length of time."

Figures statistics and charts presented by Mr Mason during the talk showed the building program submitted

More Than 2,600 Attend Centennial Services at First Presbyterian Church

Three Former Pastors Are Speakers in Sunday's Program Here, Two-Day Celebration To Close with Congregational Reception Tonight

More than 2,600 persons visited First Presbyterian church yesterday during the three special services held in commemoration of the organization of the church here 100 years ago.

Attendance was estimated at 1,100 for the morning service, 800 at night and 700 at Sunday school. A large delegation from Forest Lawn Presbyterian church attended the service at night.

The two-day centennial celebration will be brought to a close at a congregational reception and service at 7 [illegible] o'clock tonight at the church. The program will include a talk by Mrs Jonas Conklin, "A Few Leaves from the Book of Memory," and a talk by Judge F B McNeal, "Musical Reminiscences." Organ and piano music will be furnished by Mrs Harry [illegible] Williams church organist and Mrs H K Mouser.

Yesterday's Program

Outstanding in yesterday's activities was the morning service in which the Rev Raymond W Smiley, of Steubenville a recent pastor of the local church gave the principal address. The Rev E J Strock of Mt Rainier, Md gave a talk at the Sunday school service and Dr Frank Crabstaff of Cincinnati gave the sermon at night. Both Dr Crabstaff and Dr Strock are also former local pastors.

Taking as his subject "Shadows One Hundred Years Old," and as his text that portion of scripture which tells of the afflicted people gathering along the roadside that the shadow of Elijah, the prophet might fall upon and heal them of their physical ailments Mr Smiley opened his sermon by speaking of the shadows of life always silent but always present and the influences they exert not only on the [illegible] responsible for them but particularly of their effect upon others upon whom they are cast.

Various Shadows

Shadows of influence, of attitude, of tone of voice of every day life whether for good or evil were suggested. The silence of these shadows was also considered and their influences and effects working wholly without voice or noise.

Nature heals in silence, when there is quiet and peace Mr Smiley said. When nature is disturbed boisterous noisy as during earthquakes thunder storms or great winds there is destruction.

In closing Mr Smiley spoke of the shadows of 100 years of influence faith, Christian experience and growth of earnest, faithful service in the cause of Christ cast by the First Presbyterian church. He also expressed the hope that

THIRD ARREST MADE IN KIDNAPING CASE

Swift Devolomenta Made in Mafia Extortionist Roundup

Chicago Oct 1—Sudden seizure of Paul Prepanpi at Gary Ind, today on instructions of the state's attorney's office here, presented a mystifying twist to swift developments in the rounding up of a gang of Mafia extortionists and kidnapers who held little Billy Ranieri captive for $60,000 ransom.

With the confession from Andrea Cavellano arrested at the home of a relative in Berwyn Ill that he was the proprietor of the mysterious "kidnapers' farm" near Bourbonnais, Ill., where Billy was held, and the arrest of John Peronili of Joliet, partially identified in a [illegible] here as one of the kidnapers, it was rumored that Prepanpi was the other kidnaper sought, although attaches of the state's attorney's office refused to confirm or deny the rumor.

PROBE SHOOTING

New Philadelphia, Oct 1—Investigation of the death of Charles Eggan, Midvale mine stable boss, whose body was found with a bullet in the head early Thursday in an empty stall here, was being continued today following interment of the body yesterday. No motive for the mysterious shooting has been found authorities say. The mine was operating under union contract.

MAN SHOT

Victim of Detective's Gun Is Unidentified

Dayton, Oct 1—Efforts to identify the man shot and killed Sunday night by City Detective Jesse T Metzger were being made here today.

The man had rented a garage and stored a car which police declare to have been stolen. When he called to pay the rent and take away the car last night, Metzger attempted to arrest him. The man wheeled and ran, disregarding Metzger's command to halt, the detective said, whereupon he fired one shot.

A piece of paper bearing the name W. E. Luccorello was found in his pocket, being the only clue to his identity.

HOLD WOMAN IN SHOOTING OF MARTINS FERRY MAN

Martins Ferry, Oct 1—Albert Briggs, 27, was dead today and his alleged sweetheart, Mrs. Ray Richardson, 32, was being held pending inquiry into the slaying of Briggs late Saturday night.

Coroner J. W. Neal is investigating circumstances surrounding the shooting which, it is said, took place in the woman's home on the Ohio river high way, near here.

The woman's husband was in Virginia on a hunting trip at the time of the tragedy according to information reaching Neal.

BANK SERVICE CHARGE PUT IN EFFECT HERE

50 Cent Assessment To Be Made on Accounts Under $100 Average

TO COVER EXPENSE

Local Banks Follow Lead Taken in Other Cities to Eliminate Losses

Six Marion banks, constituting the membership of the Marion Clearing House association were preparing to put in operation today a 50-cent service charge for checking accounts which do not average $100 daily for the month.

Although the service charge went into effect today, depositors will not be affected by it until the end of this month [illegible] Merkel president of the association said today.

Explains Plan

Mr Merkel explained the operation of the service charge by saying that at the end of each month banks in the city would deduct 50 cents from each checking account which does not show an average balance of $100 for the month. Savings accounts are not affected.

Accounts of churches and church organizations and those of charitable institutions will be exempt from the service charges it was announced.

For the last six weeks banks in the association have been conducting an educational campaign preparatory to instituting the service charge.

Accounts Carried at Loss

In outlining reasons which prompted members of the association to make the service charge Mr Merkel said that many persons who have checking accounts make deposits on payday and before the middle of the next week the account is practically checked out. The result is that the cost of handling check books and bookkeeping operations is a dead loss to the bank. Such accounts instead of yielding a reasonable profit to the banks are carried at a loss.

Banks which instituted the service charge today are the Marion Savings Bank, The Fahey Banking Co, The Marion National Bank, The National City Bank & Trust Co, The Marion County Bank and the West Side bank.

In making the service charge Marion banks are following the lead of banks in many other cities in the country, according to Mr Merkel.

ASKS OHIOANS USE OHIO MINED COAL

Governor Donahey Voices Plan In Effort to Restore Industry In State

Columbus, O Oct 1—That Ohioans use Ohio coal in their homes industries municipalities and schools this winter is the request made today in a proclamation issued by Gov Vic Donahey.

Claiming that Ohio coal had been used with great satisfaction in all state institutions for years the governor asked that coal dealers throughout the Buckeye state make every effort to induce their customers to buy Ohio mined coal.

The coal industry at one time was the second largest industry in the state the governor's proclamation read. It has been its peculiar fate to be confronted by one obstacle after another over a period of years. Geographical location prejudicial freight rates unfavorable post war readjustment and, more recently a labor controversy—these and other conditions all extraneous to the inherent merit of Ohio coal—have combined to reduce the industry to a low ebb. The consumers of Ohio can restore the industry. They can keep every mine busy, and Ohio miners and mines are capable of supplying all the needs of the state. Without such cooperation, thousands of miners now idle will be without opportunity to provide a livelihood for their families."

THEATERS, BUSINESS HOUSES WIN BATTLE

Martins Ferry Blue Law Fight Ended by Grand Jury

Martins Ferry, Oct. 1—This city's long fight over the Sunday blue laws appeared at an end today, with the confectionery owners, news stand operators and moving picture theater operators occupying places in the winning column, following a "wide open" Sunday here yesterday.

All drug stores news stands and gasoline stations were open yesterday, an aftermath of the action of the Belmont county grand jury in failing to return indictments against alleged violators of the blue laws. Moving picture theaters also were open yesterday.

FINAL PAVING WORK STARTS ON W. CENTER

South Side of Thoroughfare Completed and Opened to Traffic

DEDICATION PLANNED

Committee Meets Today To Arrange for Mardi Gras Opening

Construction of the new paving of West Center st generally conceded to be the most important street improvement project here in recent years neared its final stage Saturday when last work was completed on the south side of the thoroughfare and it was opened to through traffic.

The north side of the street between the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania railroads the only section remaining to be paved was closed to traffic this morning. Work on paving of that small section was started today.

Work Moves Rapidly

Rapid progress has been made by the contracting firm of P. Drake & Sons in construction of the improvement started and the entire street is expected to be completed and opened to traffic within a short time.

With completion of the improvement in sight the West Center st business men and property owners are pushing their plans to stage a mardi gras celebration as a formal opening late in October.

Meeting Today

M. J. McDaniel chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements of the West Center Street Improvement association has called a meeting for 4 [illegible] o'clock. Tentative plans for the celebration will be discussed McDaniel said.

R [illegible] Lewis, president of the association [illegible] Burke and [illegible] Fletcher were [illegible]. Plans arranged will be presented for approval at a general meeting to be held Thursday or Friday.

SUPREME COURT WILL START NEW SESSION

Three Justices Eligible for Retirement; Important Cases Scheduled

Washington Oct 1—Nine venerable justices mounted the bench of the United States supreme court today to usher in a new eight months' term of court during which some of the most important litigation in years will be considered.

Although only a perfunctory session was expected for the opening day, scores of lawyers and high government officials gathered for the brief formalities which marked the commencement of the new court year. The justices were to make a formal call on President Coolidge after the session.

Three of the nine justices on the bench are eligible for retirement, but there is no indication that any resignations will be presented in the near future. Despite persistent rumors of his retirement, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, now past 87 years of age, began the new term apparently in fine fettle.

Chief Justice Taft, who is 71, and Associate Justice Brandeis, a year his senior, are the other two who have passed the three score and 10 years at which they became eligible for retirement.

Postponement for two weeks of oral argument in the New York [illegible] case was anticipated as the court opened.

An early decision is expected in the Great Lakes controversy in which six states bordering on the lakes are seeking to enjoin the city of Chicago from withdrawing water from Lake Michigan for drainage purposes. This is one of the few cases submitted to the court last term and not decided.

SQUIRREL HUNTERS START OUT TODAY

Inaugurate First Season in Two Years, Closes Oct. 15

Many Marion sportsmen were in the woods early this morning to take advantage of the first squirrel shooting since the fall of 1926. The squirrel season opened today and will close Oct 15.

By noon the majority of the hunters had returned to the city. Poor luck was reported from [illegible] to [illegible]. Many seemed to have difficulty in getting [illegible].

That many are going after game this fall is indicated by the fact that the office of the clerk of courts has been kept busy during the last few weeks issuing hunting licenses.

MARION PASTORS ELECT OFFICERS

Rev. H. F. Weckmueller Chosen Ministerial Association President

The Rev. Herbert F. Weckmueller, pastor of First Reformed church and the oldest Marion minister in point of service here, was elected president of the Marion County Ministerial association at the first meeting of the season this morning in the public auditorium at City library.

Mr. Weckmueller will succeed the Rev. George L. Graves, pastor of Central Christian church, who served in the capacity of president during the past year.

Dr. H. J. George pastor of Epworth M. E. church and second oldest pastor in point of service here, was elected vice president and the Rev. John A. Carruthers, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, secretary treasurer.

Dr. George succeeds Mr. Weckmueller as vice president and Mr. Carruthers succeeds the Rev. Wiley H. Young, pastor of the Elite Memorial Baptist church. Mr. Young holds the oldest membership in the association.

Routine business was transacted and plans made for the next meeting in two weeks at the library, committee appointments to be made prior to that time.

Dr. George gave the paper during the program hour, taking as his subject, "Christian Experience and the Religion of the Method." Mr. Carruthers presided at the devotional service. There was a large attendance.

REPORT NINE DEATHS FROM OHIO TRAFFIC

Week-End Fatalities on Decrease Over State, Report Shows

Deaths in Ohio during the 48 hour week end period were about the same as those reported last week when a marked decrease in fatalities due to traffic mishaps was noted. Among these resulting deaths over the week end were:

Cincinnati: James Worley, 50, died Sunday, presumably of injuries sustained Saturday when struck by an auto although, at the time, his injuries were not believed serious.

Wilmington: Mrs Ralph Schnell [illegible] killed when auto driven by her husband [illegible] toppled off bridge near here, pinning her underneath.

Mansfield: Mrs. Fred H. Cahall, [illegible] fatally injured when her car skidded on loose gravel and turned turtle.

Lebanon: Mrs. John Schnell, 6[illegible] killed when auto driven by her husband [illegible] got out of his control and turned over.

Toledo: Miss May Arnold, 20 killed when auto collided with telegraph pole.

Delaware: Herman Berndt, 3[illegible] Hocking Valley conductor sustained fatal injuries when he fell while mounting the pilot step of a freight engine near here.

Dayton: Miss Nellie McGrath, 70 killed when struck by auto said to have been driven by Herbert Coleman, 19.

Bethany: John Beck 58, Miamisburg crushed to death when auto driven by Fred Engles, 65, turned over.

Governor Smith Back In Rochester After Western Campaign

REACHES ROCHESTER, GETS BIG WELCOME

Four More Weeks of Strenuous Driving Ahead of Nominee

TO VISIT MIDWEST

Most of Time Will Be Spent in East, Confident of Results

Rochester N Y, Oct 1—Governor Smith arrived in Rochester at 9 0 o'clock this morning to attend the Democratic state convention. He was welcomed by a large delegation of New York Democrats.

* * *

BY GEORGE R HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

Toledo Sept 30—(Enroute with Governor Smith to Rochester)—His western campaign [illegible] the [illegible] ahead, Governor Smith headed back into home territory today.

For the rest of this week the Brown derby is to hang on familiar pegs.

Five weeks remain before election day on Nov 6. Four of these weeks will be filled with hard strenuous campaigning by the Democratic nominee. Chicago and St Louis are to be visited before October ends and there will be an excursion into the border states but most of the time will be spent in the east, along the vast and populous Atlantic seaboard.

Governor Smith is returning from the west well satisfied in the main with his two weeks journey through the grain belt—where the corn grows tall and where political insurgency grows apace with the corn. He believes he has won thousands of votes to his cause. He avoids, however, any definite predictions.

"Low Down" Innovation

"I think I have brought home to the people all the issues I dealt with," he said today. "I have talked pretty plainly on the issues I took up and I am satisfied it was effective. I think the people [illegible] with a struggle [illegible] [illegible] the day [illegible].

As viewed by the Democratic strategists the Smith [illegible] the west [illegible].

First they say Governor Smith [illegible] to show [illegible] to exhibit [illegible] [illegible].

Secondly they [illegible] against [illegible] [illegible].

LaFollette Leaders With Him

Thirdly the Smith [illegible] [illegible] question of [illegible] embraced [illegible] from the [illegible] of the [illegible].

[illegible] most important [illegible] the western invasion [illegible] appeal to the [illegible] the progressive following of 1924 which [illegible] itself [illegible] vote of nearly five millions four years ago.

Governor Smith had on his train for days Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, who was LaFollette's running mate four years ago. In every state visited there [illegible] LaFollette leaders of four years ago [illegible] give counsel and advice, information and encouragement. The old LaFollette lieutenants have assured Governor Smith that he will get the great majority of the independent vote of four years ago. Gov Walter Maddock of North Dakota for example said Governor Smith would get 50 per cent of it in the northwest. Governor Smith was told the same thing in Wisconsin where the betting is even on his carrying the state. LaFollette carried it four years ago over both Coolidge and Davis.

It is upon this line of reasoning that the Smith managers believe the western invasion has been highly successful. As one of them put it:

"We had little or nothing when we started out here. Now we have a few states certainly and a fighting chance in every state Governor Smith has visited."

FOUR GIRLS, ONE MAN KILLED ON GRADE CROSSIN

New York Oct 1—Four girls and one man are dead and two youths and two girls are in a serious condition today from injuries received when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Long Island railroad train near Massapequa.

The occupants of the automobile were out for a picnic. Those killed were George Schuster 25, Madeline Doebel 12, Mildred Stenholm 16, Dagmar Stenholm, Kuh and Elinor Rohling 17, all of Hempstead L I.

BANDITS HOLD UP CLUB, STEAL SAFE WITH $5,000

New York Oct 1—Three bandits early today invaded the Level Club hotel, a Masonic organization, held up the manager and escaped in an automobile with a 300 pound safe containing $5,000 in cash and jewelry belonging to the hotel's 200 guests.

The increase in number of building permits [illegible] in 10 years, the number of wage earners employed here since 1914 and the value of manufactured products here since the war indicative of the increased wealth of the city, all point to a continued and healthy growth of Marion, Mr Mason said.

Other charts showing in what sections of the city the continued growth of population could be expected to make additional school room essential and in what way the proposed plan will supply this need were also shown. In closing Mr Mason presented maps showing the location of every school child in the city of Marion and maps showing the location of Marion's 16 schools. A few pictures of the actual conditions of congestion in some sections of the city were also shown.

YACHT BURNS, SINKS

Mystery Surrounds Vessel Apparently Broken Loose from Moorings

New York Oct 1—Mystery today surrounded the spectacular burning of an 80 foot yacht in Manhasset bay last night. The yacht, an express cruiser which apparently had broken away from its moorings, illuminated the darkness like a gigantic beacon as it floated with the tide and then sank.

Reports that the cruiser belonged to Walter Chrysler, the motor magnate, were being checked this morning.

The drama of the sea resulted in the drowning of Walter Robertson, one of three youths who started out in a leaky rowboat to get a close view of the burning craft. Robertson sank and was drowned, but his companions were rescued.

KIWANIANS GOING TO STATE MEETING

Predict Local Man's Election to Office at Cleveland Convention

Delegates from the Marion Kiwanis club to the state convention to be held Oct 1, 2 and 3 in the Cleveland hotel, Cleveland, will leave for the convention today and early Tuesday, according to M J McDaniel of the McDaniel Motor Co., one of the delegates.

Dr James W McMurray, who is being boosted for lieutenant governor of the district Kiwanis organization, left for Cleveland yesterday. Balloting on state officers will take place Tuesday night.

With nine Kiwanis clubs from cities in this section of Ohio pledged to support Dr McMurray in the election, Kiwanis officials here look forward to Tuesday night's balloting confident of success. Mansfield, Norwalk, Bellevue, Fort Clinton, Fremont, Carey, Crestline, Galion and Mt Gilead are the clubs pledged to the local candidate.

Representatives of Marion Kiwanis club at the convention will be Ed C Watters and M J McDaniel, delegates, and Harry Barnhart and A W Kette, alternates. G Ure Earie, president of the Marion Kiwanians, will also attend the convention.

JURY FREES WOMAN AFTER FIVE MINUTES

Miss Evelyn Sigman Acquitted of Charges of Manslaughter

Coshocton Oct 1—Miss Evelyn Sigman, 31, was free of a manslaughter charge here today after one of the quickest trials for a serious offense on record in this county resulting in acquittal of the woman.

The jury returned its verdict late Saturday after only five minutes of deliberation. The decision saving Miss Sigman from serving a term in prison was greeted with a prolonged demonstration in the courtroom which lasted for 10 minutes while the court pounded for order.

Miss Sigman went on trial here Thursday charged with manslaughter in connection with the shooting to death of her alleged lover, Edward J Rose, local furniture dealer, who was killed on the night of Aug 9 after what authorities alleged was a lovers quarrel.

church for 40 years is believed to be the oldest living member of the organization, according to announcement made by the Rev Howard L Olewiler, pastor, at the morning service. Mrs Louise Court, 208 East Church st, 92 years of age, is also one of the older members.

Douglas Torrence, former superintendent of the Sunday school, and Mrs Torrence, who now reside at Huntington W Va, were among the guests at the church yesterday. Others from out of town affiliated with the local church and present yesterday included R S Bucher of Newark, who formerly directed young people's work here, Miss Belle Anderson of Newark and Charles Nelson of Columbus.

The church was decorated for the services with chrysanthemums, zenias, marigolds, bittersweet, fern and palms. Flowers on the east pedestal were in memory of Mr and Mrs George Krause while the flowers on the west pedestal contributed by Mrs G L Emmerson were in memory of her grandfather, William Bain.

INITIATION VICTIM

Student Dies in Hospital at Austin Texas

Austin Texas Oct 1—Fraternity leaders were shocked today over the death of Nelle McElroy, 19, of Houston, student at the University of Texas, who died last night at a local hospital 15 minutes after an initiation at the Delta Kappa Upsilon fraternity.

A statement by the fraternity said that McElroy became unconscious while crawling between two pairs of bed springs connected with city light wires through a rheostat. He was immediately taken to a hospital where he died. McElroy was led in over the soiled [illegible] prior to the initiation it was said.

such a history would be as an inspiration to churchmen of today to press forward with such renewed vigor since its [illegible] of purpose, faith and love as to make the shadows to be cast in the coming years even more influential and fruitful.

The program of morning worship also included vocal music by a trio composed of the Misses Janet Trott and Elma Sage and Leonard Young and an anthem by the church choir. Dr Stroch, the Rev Howard L Olewiler, pastor, the Rev James M Fisher, assistant pastor, and Dr Granstaff participated in devotionals.

Mission of Church

"The real mission of the church is to win souls for Christ—to save the world from its sins," Dr Granstaff said in his sermon, "The Church and Its Mission," at the service last night.

"The church is not political nor educational, for culture nor reformation," Dr Granstaff said. "It is simply an organization through which men are brought to Christ. A part of its mission may be regeneration or generation, creating new creatures in Christ since all old things are destined to pass away."

In illustrating his point Dr Granstaff said: "Were there only one real Christian in Marion—only one person fully saved for Christ—and that one should completely save another within 12 months, those two save another two the next year and so on in arithmetical progression, in 12 [illegible] years all Marion would be saved for Christ."

Other features of the service were music by a double trio composed of Mrs L G Williamson, Mrs W J Wilkins and Misses Esther Bloomingdale, Janet Trott, Betty Grissinger and Lima Sage, an anthem by the choir and organ music by Mrs Harry T Williams, church organist. Dr Stroch, Mr Smiley and Rev John A Carriker, pastor of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, presided for the worship period.

That the value and strength of any church organization depends upon the faith and devotion of the membership was emphasized by Dr Stroch in the opening address of the anniversary celebration. His subject was "The Making of a Glorious Church."

Dr Stroch gave his address in connection with the Sunday school program held in the church auditorium. No class sessions were held, all members of the Sunday school as well as many visitors remaining in the auditorium for the general program which started at 9 o'clock.

Stating that the word "glory" has varying definitions Dr Stroch showed that there is a right way and a wrong way of appraising it as applied to the church.

He defined it in this one sentence: "The glory of the church is the glory of Jesus Christ shining through the lives of the redeemed, the personality of His disciples."

"The glory of the church," Dr Stroch said, "is not to be found in the magnificence of the place of worship, knowledge and eloquence in the pulpit, nor wealth and culture in the pews, although these things are important."

Four outstanding characteristics of Christ and His life were designated as essential for emulation by His followers in expressing the glory of the church.

First the glory of Jesus is seen, Dr Stroch said, in His deeds and humility.

"The glory of Christ also shines out through His simple unquestioning faith in the Heavenly Father," the former pastor said. He added that he doubts whether any person can really love another without absolute faith in the object of that love.

The third expression of Christ's glory Dr Stroch found in the fact that Christ was never alone but was always in company with the Father.

"As we live in consciousness of Christ with us His glory will shine through the church," the speaker said.

Obedience was given as the fourth means of promoting the glory of the church. The example of obedience was set by Christ who invariably did His Father's will, Dr Stroch reminded his audience.

"We must be careful not to appraise spiritual things by material standards," was one of the final admonitions of the speaker.

In referring to the progress of the local church in the past he said: "The past can be helpful only as we accept it as a heritage to enrich the future."

Devotional exercises and special music were also a part of the Sunday school program. Several numbers by the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of L B McNeal were included.

S S Baker presided in the absence of Martin Vogelburg, Sunday school superintendent, who was called to Michigan by the death of a relative.

CANTON MINISTER WILL GET SYNOD PRESIDENCY

WARMS UP

Sunday Weather Discounts Predictions of Early Winter

Marion residents yesterday dispelled their pessimistic predictions for an early winter to revel in one of the few remaining warm fall days.

The temperature mounted to 72 degrees, the highest point reached in several weeks. A 41 degree low was recorded last night, the temperature rising again today to the 60 degree mark at noon.

Increasing cloudiness followed by showers late tonight or Tuesday is the weather prediction for tonight and Tuesday. Warmer weather tonight followed by a drop in the temperature Tuesday is anticipated.

A year ago yesterday the mercury soared to two degrees below 90. A low of 6[illegible] degrees was recorded.

JESSEL'S "WAR SONG" PROVES GREAT HIT

[illegible] Absolutely Shorn of Chested Heroics; Other Plays Reviewed

By RUTH MORRIS
Marion Star Staff Writer

[illegible] Oct. [illegible]—Nightly the[illegible] its [illegible] goes at [illegible] ever among the latter are [illegible] that [illegible] for [illegible] ted as inferior or just [illegible] es through with a [illegible] nance.

[illegible] awaited as at the [illegible] The War Song [illegible] starred in by George Jessel [illegible] Jazz Singer' and vaudeville. Memories of the [illegible] of his former success, coupled [illegible] qualities of [illegible] old play held a [illegible]. Therefore appreciation [illegible] when [illegible] its unfolding. [illegible] War Song' sliced a piece out of [illegible] song plugger's life, took [illegible] tly to war and chronicled [illegible] and sorrows in a sometimes [illegible] metimes poignantly moving [illegible] lutely shorn of full chested [illegible]

[illegible] Jessel's song plugger, Eddie [illegible] (as [illegible] might have been) [illegible] escape capture a German [illegible] dent [illegible] He doesn't even [illegible] His brother [illegible] into fight a fare [illegible] the war [illegible] on the eve of the [illegible] He is just Eddie Rosen, a [illegible] who longs to be home [illegible] a very personal comfort as best as he can, and the hardships [illegible] to understand. Mr. Jessel is a [illegible] gifted comedian, surefire at [illegible] stage, but in his latest play he has shown himself an actor who can handle pathos and drama with sincerity and taste. Never did he overplay, never was he cheap, never did he ask for sympathy—and as a result he received all the audience had to give.

"The War Song" at last makes visible the 'Mamma' who has for years been the off-stage recipient of Mr. Jessel's vaudeville phone conversations, and in selecting Clara Langsner for the role the producers played a master stroke. Miss Langsner made Mrs. Rosen a grand Jewish mother, a little stand, a little shallow and so awfully lovable that her [illegible] seemed a little too bad. When Eddie, having wandered aimlessly into a German prison camp, receives the news of her death he takes it silently, standing motionless for seconds. Then going quietly to a corner of the stage while his [illegible] mutter three Teutonic comments over a camp bulletin, this little Jewish boy in a quiet, choking voice says 'Kadish,' the Hebrew prayer for the dead. And the play ends. Eddie's return to New York, solace found in more song plugging and a possible future headlining date at the Palace the authors leave to the imagination.

The last scene in the German prison camp was a remarkable—played for the most part in crisply authentic German whose content was not [illegible] understandable. What there was of hokum in the play that is really just an episode mercifully never passed the barrier of the acting.

They Sob and How!

The impression of Al Jolson's new talking picture "The Singing Fool" was another thing again—in it the [illegible] Mr. Jessel [illegible] Mr. Jolson, as Al [illegible] that my tears [illegible] at the death of one of [illegible] babies I have ever seen [illegible] tearless [illegible] I have seen pictures whereat [illegible] I have ever heard an [illegible] but never [illegible] as they did at 'The Singing Fool.'

Cheap in the story aside, however, the picture has Al Jolson, whose terrific personality should be a national [illegible]. When Jolson sings one is swept away with the rhythm, the enthusiasm and the [illegible] magnificent tones that any singer might envy. [illegible] 'The Singing Fool' [illegible] Mr. Jolson sings [illegible] in which he tells a [illegible] to that darling Sonny Boy.

"The New Moon," at the Imperial theater, dispenses a familiar brand of romantic musical comedy—at the top of shows, as I suppose, very well done. Its singing was far above the average of most musical shows, its production was good and solid, its comedy [illegible] stereotyped, and its score tuneful. I suppose it was good—but it happened to have me to do [illegible]

Tunes Recalled

Sigmund Romberg, again dug down into a fertile musical memory for his tuneful, well-handled score. One perfectly lovely melody, "Softly as in a Morning Sunrise," [illegible] of which are taken almost note for note [illegible] the opening bars from a favorite song of Caruso's (I have a record to prove it) "Canta Pe Me." At another, "Lover Come Back to Me," the audience manifested its delight—as well they might, since the world has been liking Tschaikowsky's [illegible] for years. If there were just an hour or two in which to trace musical themes we could have a very interesting time of it, but alas! We must rush on to the next theatrical offering.

This happens to be "The Big Fight," in which Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor are starred. Its play writing seemed the kind that is whipped together in rehearsal [illegible] and at times almost infantile. In an opening night curtain speech Mr. Belasco, with customary charm, confided that "While Mr. Dempsey is a Samson in strength he is at heart just a big boy."

But the Maestro was wrong—Jack Dempsey was a LITTLE boy, a round-faced kid reciting his school piece—likable and just as nice as he could be. When the strain of trying to act was over and Dempsey cut loose in the prize ring he was, of course, magnificent—as was the entire reproduction of the fight. In a passing, one Ralph Smith, Dempsey's opponent in the ring (and it was said—and is believed—Heeney's former sparring partner) was marvelous with futile histrionism and a voice like a cauliflower ear.

WINTER is fast approaching. Sheet blankets are already displayed in a show window on West Center st., but instead of being plain white ones such as adorned grandmother's bed they are splashed in stripes of light blue, pink, yellow, light green and orange. Only a half block away a touring car was parked with two sleds tied onto the running board. Yes, winter will soon be upon us.

BIG NEWS

AIRPORTS and air news are demanding more and more attention these days, both from citizens and from newspapers.

All of which should greatly concern Marion.

Marion is only 45 miles from Columbus and the Capital City believes it is in a strategic position to become a great inland airport.

In a statement of the location of Columbus it is pointed out that the Franklin county seat is so situated that for miles in either direction there is level farm land with scores of level cleared areas that could serve as emergency landing fields in case of engine trouble. There are no high hills nearby over which outgoing planes must climb and over which they must circle to land. Marion can offer the same inducements.

Columbus, it is pointed out, is located near the geographical center of population of the United States. And rail communications are good, providing feeders for air lines which will work into the air transport program. Something else that Marion can offer.

It also is predicted that 500 planes a day will enter or leave a municipally owned Columbus airport with passengers making connections here for all points in the United States.

The Toledo Blade recently commended editorially the cities of Monroe, Mich., and Tiffin, O., on their interest in aviation, terming them "air wise." Both cities have new airports and the Blade declares that five years from now it will be impossible to imagine a city without an airport.

"Landing fields will be essential, regardless of the changes in aircraft construction," adds the Blade.

The Plain Dealer last week commended Cleveland's progress in aviation. "Cleveland's foresightedness in constructing one of the world's finest airports is rewarded again," the editorial [illegible]. "This time in the decision of the [illegible] of the American Aeronautical association to hold the 1929 races here."

The Sixth City's facilities for handling the race was recognized. It is expected that the program will draw thousands to Ohio's metropolis.

* * *

NEXT STEP

NOW that Marion has obtained its airport an airport division or bureau or commission in the city government probably will be the next step. The field will need both development and publicity.

Greenville dedicated its airport Sunday, naming it in honor of Lieut. Commander Zachary Lansdowne, as was noted in Monday's editions of The Star.

Not satisfied with just having an airport, Greenville has now formally entered the lists as a contestant among the cities and towns bidding for the eastern terminal of the proposed air-rail service between New York and Los Angeles.

NATIONAL SHRINES

WITH the Harding tomb and home here any facts relating to tourist visitation are rather interesting to Marionites. The Washington News asserts that more tourists will pay to see Washington's home than the pew where he sat when he went to church, recent figures show.

In 1926 actual paid admissions at Mt. Vernon were 395,030. In the same year only 154,318 people visited Christ Church in Alexandria where the Washington pew still stands, in addition to those going to church there.

The News also shows that the automobile is cause for the tremendous increase in tourist traffic. In 1885 only 35,000 persons visited Mt. Vernon.

NEWLYWEDS

BELLINGS for newlyweds and rides through the streets in gaily colored vehicles for the same happy personages are among the customs that have not been changed by the passing years. The only difference is more modern methods of conveyance.

Young people today get just as much enjoyment from having sport at the expense of brides and grooms as they did in olden times. An illustration was a scene enacted on Center st. one day this week when a limousine decorated with tissue paper of bright hues passed down the thoroughfare followed by a touring car with the horn sounding continually to proclaim the nature of the [illegible]. On the limousine in which the bride and groom were riding was the picture of a mule drawing a cart with the inscription, "Just Hitched." [illegible]

The bride was the former Miss Celia Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dunn, Niles st., and the groom, William H. [illegible] Jr. of Covington, Ky.

State Officers on Program for Eagles' District Conference in Marion, Oct. 7

Fall and Winter Program To Be Outlined for Various Aeries

Approximately 150 officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will attend a conference to be held at the rooms of the local Eagles aerie, Sunday, Oct. 7, it was announced today by Secretary J. A. Abel of Buckeye Aerie, No. [illegible]. Plans for the fall and winter programs of aeries in this district will be discussed at the conference.

Eleven In District

Eleven lodges in the district will send their presidents, secretaries and other members of the executive committees to the meeting, Abel states. Places to be represented are Bucyrus, [illegible], Delaware, [illegible], Marshall, Mt. Gilead, Mt. Vernon, Shelby, Wooster, Galion and Marion.

Besides these, Ralph J. Bartlett, Columbus, state president; M. J. Brown, Springfield, state secretary, and H. J. Berendo, Akron, chairman of the state organization department will be here. Abel will represent the Grand Aerie at the conference.

Program for Discussion

Matters to be discussed at the session will include plans for the activities of the various aeries during the next year, membership campaigns, entertainment of members, welfare work, etc.

A secretary's round table will be held in the afternoon and a banquet will be served at 5:30 o'clock in the Eagles' banquet room, Abel announces.

GREEN CAMP CLASS NAMES OFFICERS FOR SEMESTER

Green Camp, Oct. 1—The Home Economics class of Green Camp high school held the first meeting of the year Tuesday evening with Mary Staymer as chairman. The officers chosen for the first semester were: Winona Smith, president; Opal Johnson, vice president, and Elsie Dixon, secretary and treasurer. Fourteen new members were initiated at this meeting. They were: Margaret Kitts, Thora Pfeil, Gladys Stafford, Mary Court, [illegible] Beaver, Mary [illegible], Lena Schaber, Lucille Wasserbeck, Ruth Imbody, Dorothy Folk, Leah Schultz, Martha May Finch, Virginia Wolfe and Dorothy Weston. Games and a social time was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the committee composed of Opal Johnson, June Leiver and Mildred Weston. The program for the next meeting will be planned by Misses Mary Merill, Bonnie [illegible], Winona Smith, Ruth Imbody and Elsie Dixon.

Chocolate or cocoa stains can generally be removed from clothes if they are first washed in cold water, then have plenty of boiling water poured over them.

O. S. U. Sociology Class To Open Here Wednesday

Special Course Offered by University Extension Department

DR. PERRY P. DENUNE

Arrangements have been completed for the course in [illegible] offered by the Ohio State university in Marion. The class will hold its first session Wednesday [illegible] Oct. [illegible] at 7 o'clock at the Harding high school, room 12. Dr. Perry P. Denune, instructor in charge, will be present and make a complete statement as to the nature of the program and the subject matter to be covered.

All those who are interested in modern trends of social thought and its application to social problems are invited to be present to meet Dr. Denune and to ascertain whether the course is adapted to their needs.

Is Credit Course

The course is [illegible] for those who care to take it to satisfy requirements. Others, however, who are not interested in credit [illegible] enroll provided their background in education or experience is sufficient to enable them to profit by it.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Department of Commerce Extension, the Ohio State university, Columbus, O., according to plans outlined today.

Plans for the course call for regular sessions of the class at Harding high school Wednesday night. A large number of local school teachers and others interested in welfare work have signified their intention of enrolling.

Marion is one of the cities in the state which will have a sociology class. In the last few years classes in salesmanship and business training have been held here.

SCORE A TIE IN SOCCOR GAME AT PROSPECT PARK

Prospect, Oct. 1—The Prospect high school soccer team played the opening game of the season with Waldo at Community Park Friday afternoon. The score was 1 and 1. Twenty minutes over time was given to play off the tie but still it remained the same. A large crowd attended the game. Prospect will meet Waldo soon for a return game.

Reporter Gets in Personal Touch with Modern Education by Enrolling as One-Day Pupil in Marion Class-Rooms

Editor's Note—In her concluding article of the series appearing recently in The Star, Miss Jennings sums up her observations of visits made to various grade schools in the city of Marion, noting the development shown by children in the various stages of their educational progress.

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

With the [illegible] altogether pleasant feeling of a youngster just released from school, I [illegible] up my duties as pupil-reporter on the Marion public schools last Thursday when I engaged with the seventh grade youngsters of Pearl street school in a round of departmental work.

I had that indescribable feeling of a high school student who, having met the [illegible] requirements, is suddenly thrust into the outer world to [illegible] into the class of "uninitiated"—adults who have forgotten the thrills of public school life. It was even a more extraordinary experience for, given a second chance at school, which unfortunately comes to few of us, I suddenly found myself forced to grow up again, becoming acquainted with all the interesting things that children do in school.

Valuable Discoveries

Aside from discovering all the many things I'd failed to learn in school during my own 12 years' experience and reviewing those I had perchance learned, I found out a lot of interesting facts about children.

Most delightful of all, I believe, are the first graders making awkward entrance into the portals of knowledge. Third and sixth grade youngsters are the most amusing: third graders because they have just discovered that teacher is not at heart an ogre and school a prison and that there are numerous ways of entertaining fellow schoolmates during the day's [illegible]. The sixth graders [illegible] are just beginning to take [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] best [illegible] [illegible] correct [illegible].

Evidence of Diligence

Fourth and fifth grade children are [illegible] work the hardest. Children of each grade [illegible] with their work [illegible] have just been convinced that school is for work as well as primary entertainment and are young enough to [illegible]. Youngsters of the seventh grade have just reached [illegible] learning and honest labor [illegible] to time [illegible] traveled by the school bully [illegible] two types of pupils appearing at about that stage in school life.

Taken as a whole, school is, I believe, the most absorbing of any form of public activity. To the interested onlooker it becomes a sort of "hall of lost opportunities"—an organization the value of which too few of us fully realize until it is indeed too late.

YOU women who love color in your homes—who recognize the advantages of sanitary, easily-cleaned floor-coverings—who appreciate a real bargain—here is your opportunity!

For the first time in years, you can buy genuine nationally-advertised Congoleum Gold Seal Art-Rugs at special reduced prices.

Unlike sales that feature cut prices on leftovers at the end of the season, this money-saving event gives you the opportunity to cover your floors at the lowest possible cost, just at the time when you are putting your home in order for the winter.

Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs can be had in the loveliest colors imaginable. There are delightful designs to suit every room, from spick-and-span tiles for kitchen, bath and pantry to rich Oriental and floral effects that give colorful beauty to the "best" rooms in the house.

First Quality, Fresh New Goods—Right from the factory. This is not a clearance sale of job lots! The latest Congoleum Gold Seal Rug designs await your choice. And Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs are better now than ever before, due to the exclusive Multicote Process which builds long life right through the body of the pattern.

Waterproof, Cleaned in a Moment—Much of the dread of house-cleaning—much of the drudgery of daily housework disappears once you have Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs in your home. For you never have to take up and beat these modern floor-coverings. Leave them right where they are. Dirt cannot get under them—there are no seams where dust and germs can collect. Just a few strokes of a damp mop removes every spot from the smooth, waterproof surface.

Easy to Lay, Too—Congoleum Gold Seal Rugs are the simplest things in the world to lay. Just put them down and they stay down—center, edges and corners—without any fastening whatever.

Every Rug Fully Guaranteed—Remember, the floor-coverings offered in this sale are genuine "Congoleum" carrying the famous Gold Seal Money-Back Guarantee. No other felt-base rugs offer so much beauty, durability and all-round value as these. You will find the Gold Seal pasted right on the face of every rug.

Don't Miss This Opportunity! Right now, while the assortments of sizes and patterns are complete, is the time for you to take advantage of these special money-saving prices. Don't forget that these bargain prices are effective this week only. Regular prices will be restored when the sale ends next Saturday night, October 6th.

Remember, these special bargain prices are effective this week only—Oct. 1 to 6.

Apropos of the situation of our neighbor to the south of the Rio Grande, it may be said that Gil, the name of the provisional president of Mexico, is pronounced "heel."

With her $2,500,000 worth of jewels in her possession, Ganna Walska is ahead the advertising and is none the worse off unless, of course, her showing that the jewels were purchased in America leads the French government to tax them when she goes back to Paris.

Dying last month, a New York manufacturer who made a specialty of cigarets, left an estate of $5,000,000. We're beginning to wonder if it isn't possible that the doom pronounced upon the cigaret by the Anti-Cigaret league, a decade or two ago, didn't "take."

A well-known American is quoted as saying that, "In any given community, when things are in a bad way, it might be well to begin reconstruction by bringing our mental equipment up to the standard required by the era and the conditions." Unquestionably so, but many a community has discovered that it's some awful job.

Clinton S. Carnes, whose accounts as treasurer of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention is said to be short $1,000,000, has been apprehended in Winnipeg, which again goes to show that there is a weakness in the brain of every criminal. Imagine a sane man going to Canada, where they have a real police system, to escape arrest and punishment for a crime.

"Honesty Is the Best Policy."

Scarcely a day passes that the newspapers of the land do not carry corroboration of the old saying that "honesty is the best policy."

A few days ago the head of the travel bureau of one of New York City's leading hotels was found guilty of trying to smuggle into this country twenty-three bottles of liquor and merchandise valued at $1,006.70. He and his wife, returning from Europe, had jointly declared dutiable articles to the value of $225 and paid the duty on the $25 in excess of their exemptions of $100 each, and also the duty on $572 worth of merchandise purchased abroad by them for friends. As he had a customs pass, as a result of his position, which admitted him to all piers, he might have succeeded in getting the goods through undetected, as he would naturally be one of the last to be suspected of attempting to work a fraud on the government. It so happened, however, that an inspector noticed the man's baggage piled on a truck and ready to be taken from the pier, none of which bore customs seals, and among something like a dozen pieces were several boxes that showed no evidences of having been opened. Unable to find any inspector in charge of this particular lot of luggage, the inspector ordered it removed and searched.

The immediate result was that the travel bureau head was fined $115 and had to pay duties and penalties on the undeclared merchandise amounting to $2,011.40, making $2,126.40 in all. More than that, he was rebuked for the betrayal of trust which went with his pass to board ships and enter customs enclosures, and his pass was ordered revoked.

But these penalties are trifling in comparison with what he will have to suffer. Henceforth he will be a marked man among customs officials. Even should he be able to retain his place, the revoking of his pass hurts his effectiveness. Instead of being free to come and go on ships and piers as other travel bureau people are, he will be constantly watched and followed. That he will long be able to follow travel bureau work is to be doubted, for even should he change his location, the story of his attempt at smuggling will follow him.

Dishonesty didn't pay this man. It never pays. It may seemingly pay for a time, but in the long run it is bound to prove expensive. Even had this hotel man succeeded in getting his baggage through without the discovery of the undeclared articles, he would have been the loser, for his betrayal of the trust of the customs officials would have made him a changed man. He simply couldn't have retained his self-respect and worked among them as in the past.

Honesty is always the best policy.

The Kellogg Note.

While the various units of the British press view from widely-diverging angles America's absolute rejection of the Anglo-French naval plan, they are almost as one on two probable results of it; that it has killed the pact and made impossible any near getting together of the great powers in a treaty to bring about the limitation of all classes of naval vessels not covered by the Washington treaty. The French press insists that there is yet a chance that such a treaty may be executed next year or, at least, that the way for the conclusion of a treaty looking to the limitation of cruisers, submarines and destroyers may be reached. It holds that Secretary of State Kellogg's note leaves the way open for such an accomplishment. Manifestly it does, but that advantage of the opening will be taken, while possible, is far from probable.

And it may be just as well that the improbability of such a treaty in the near future be recognized and that no attempt to force the matter at this time be made. The people of the United States have in mind how this country lived up to the spirit as well as the letter of the Washington treaty and how Great Britain, while observing the letter of the past, utterly failed to recognize the spirit. In the light of the secret Anglo-French pact, they have little, if any, reason to believe that conditions have changed. Bitten once, they do not care to be bitten again.

No sooner had Great Britain entered into the Washington treaty, which enabled her to maintain a superiority in capital ships, than, in violation of the spirit of the treaty, she began the construction of big and heavily-armed cruisers just below the tonnage limit specified in that agreement. Having attained an immense superiority in such vessels, to say nothing of scores of lighter cruisers, she seeks to limit the construction by this country of cruisers of the same class, similarly armed, her proposal being to limit cruisers of future construction to vessels of less sailing radius and of lighter armaments. With scores of naval stations where we have one, such a program would be to her great advantage and enable her to remain paramount on the seas, even were she not in secret treaty with France to pool their navies in time of war.

Secretary Kellogg's note makes plain that this country will not be a party to any treaty which will limit only such vessels as are needed by the United States to put our navy on an equality with that of Great Britain and place no limit whatever on the style of warships needed by Great Britain and France.

The very fact that the statesmen of Great Britain and France have entered into a secret agreement thus to handicap the United States shows, were all other evidences at hand lacking, that the time is not ripe for a conference looking to a treaty for the further limitation of naval vessels. It shows that Great Britain and France want to play the "heads we win, tails you lose" game on this country. Aside from the deplorable spirit manifested by them in entering into such a pact at a time when this country is actually working for world peace, they add insult to injury by assuming that this country is sufficiently asinine to fall into such a trap.

A New York despatch says the movies have been absolved by the Indian Cinematograph commission of harming morals in India and Burmah. Is this a boost for the movies or a knock at the morals of India and Burmah?

Manifestly the patriots who are willing to separate Uncle Sam from a part of his cash have not yet given up hope. Speakers at the fourth annual conference of corn borer control workers, held up in Toledo last week, uttered warning of the spread of the borer in Ohio.

It's going to be something of a surprise to the crew of the "Count Zeppelin" to discover, on its arrival here, that the "mysterious blue gas" it is to use in coming over may be had here in sufficient quantity to take it home, the difference between the two supplies being that over here it is not at all "mysterious."

Twelve Hollywood film companies have been sued under the Sherman anti-trust law, charged with participating in a conspiracy in restraint of trade on the Pacific coast. Can it be that Deacon Hays would permit his children to be guilty of a folly like that?

Thus far this year European film makers have increased their production costs between nine and ten million dollars, which goes to show that their threat to wrest domination of the European markets from the American producers is not an idle one. Here's hoping that the good work goes on. We here in America may profit by it in the improvement of American films.

During the first six months of the present year Canada's purchases of American goods increased six and a half per cent., her people buying at the rate of $15.70 per capita. Still she has this advantage over us. She probably still has the most of her imports from us while we have consumed a large part of our imports from her.

The director of the extension work of the University of Alabama admits that the public utilities paid him a salary of $10,500 a year "for research work and speeches." It's a sad commentary on education that a director of college extension work can be bought for such a sum as that.

A check-up by Cleveland police authorities showed that about 250 slot machines disappeared up there last week, which may be taken as indicating that the slot machine racketeers are pursuing their time-tried old plan of storing their machines away till the clean-up campaign directed against them by the authorities has blown over. Meanwhile they will probably work the baseball punch board pools as substitutes. That's the customary program.

THE NATION'S SYMPATHY TO PORTO RICO.

Ease Up! Beware of Strain.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Some of the facts of life are so self-evident that they are understood by everybody. But many otherwise sensible men deliberately disregard them. The other day we read of the death from acute indigestion of a well-known man only forty-seven years of age. His career was ended in the very prime of life.

In a newspaper editorial I saw some wise comments on this untimely death. They are worth repeating and pondering:

"Acute indigestion is merely one symptom of nervous overstrain due to crowding too much work into too little time.

"The human machine ought not to wear out on the youthful side of fifty.

"Americans sometimes deride other peoples who take life more quietly. Yet, after all, the simple life has its compensations."

What's the use of hurrying as we do? Every life is very precious to all the members of a family circle, as well as to a host of friends. The early and unnecessary death of one of its members saddens the whole group.

There is great sadness, of course, over the death of one who has long labored in the vineyard. But we accept such a loss as being in the nature of things. On the other hand, we resent the death of a friend under fifty. We count the years he might have continued with us, to promote our happiness and to serve humanity. In spite of natural vigor, the appearance of health and the conviction of strength, something snapped, and the friendly soul has gone to the mysterious bourne. We can not understand why it should be so.

But even though we can not solve the reasons for these things, we are foolish to overlook the fact that many deaths are the effect of causes which are easily determined. The pathetic thing in many instances, certainly, is that they are preventable.

Chief of such causes is overstrain. Whether it is a building, a bridge, or the body of a man, there are limits beyond which it is not safe to go.

I need not argue a minute to convince you of the truth of this statement. You know it is a fact. Everybody knows it.

Caution is the instinct of all animals. A rat never runs straight out from the gateway to its home. An elephant will not step onto a bridge until it has thoroughly tested its strength. Instinctively and invariably the brute animal exercises caution.

Why, then, does man, the king of animals, use so little common sense in dealing with the experiences of life? The effect of his higher training appears to blunt his sense of caution.

This is a pity, because it breeds a carelessness that leads to disaster. Surely we should not permit the thinking animal to be outdone by the beasts of the field!

Appetite causes us to take many a chance. The flavor of the food and its appeal to the palate cause us to overstrain the powers of digestion. The joy of work or the accomplishments of work cause us to overdo habitually. By that practice we lower our powers of digestion and are ready victims of over-indulgence.

It does not pay to overwork or overworry.

Island of Madagascar.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Madagascar! Even its name sounds romantic and picturesque.

This great island, lying off the coast of South Africa, is a possession of France, and much is being done to increase its importance commercially. For many years the Western world paid scant attention to Madagascar as a commercial possibility, but recently the French have developed its resources to a point of real importance.

Undoubtedly the greatest difficulty encountered in the development of Madagascar has been due to lack of roads and means of communication. Another thing which has retarded its commercial growth has been the terrific fever epidemics which come intermittently.

The people of Madagascar are descended, it is believed, from Malayo-Polynesian stock. They are divided into groups, or tribes, inhabiting different parts of the island. Those natives who inhabit the central and eastern regions are known as the Antimerina, or Hova, tribes. Those in the western part of Madagascar constitute the Sakalava group. And in the south the different tribes are known as Betsileo, the Bara, the Mahafaly, the Tanosy and the Taimoro.

There are three distinct social groups on the island. The Andriana—nobles—the Hova—middle class—and the Mainti—slaves.

In a later issue I will describe these people and their quaint customs in detail.—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

WEDDINGS IN THE AIR.

Perhaps it does not really matter how a wedding ceremony shall be performed—the real wedding is sanctified in the corridors of the soul—but old-fashioned folk will continue to feel that marriage is a sacrament, a solemn ritual to be performed according to the rules and regulations of civilized experience under religious sanction.

It goes without saying that many people are united according to the letter of civil statutes and "live happily ever after.' But it is none the less true that the formal marriage is a stabilizer of civilization.

Naturally such marriages may as well be solemnized in an airship as on a railway train or on the deck of an ocean-going steamer or in the depths of a coal mine. Why not? But there is a something that whispers in the soul that this closest and most material and intimate relationship should not be cheapened by spectacular incident. There is no real objection, of course, but we cling to that tradition and sentiment which makes of the ceremony of the union of two lives a something sweetly sacred, a something that needs the formal countenance of the force which has uplifted and advanced humanity far and far from the days of tribal practice.

There is no thought of criticism of the ceremony so recently performed in the uniting of a Cincinnati young couple by a minister officiating many thou*sands of feet above the earth—there probably will* be many such celebrations of the marriage rite in the coming days. But at present for many souls, there is discordance in any departure from the ancient, approved, sanctified, beaten path along which twain souls proceed to the ultimate of love's desire.

In any event, we wish the young couple all the joys of life and as few of the sorrows as may come into the experience of mortals. After all, perhaps, it makes no real difference how folk get married. The problem is for them to stay married, lovers to the end of days.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

CAPITALIZING CALAMITY.

The profiteering in rentals, food and clothing in stricken Florida must be of the coinage of a degenerate brain. The schemes to gouge the hurricane sufferers and rob them of the little they have left could not have been of the conception of cold commercialism or ordinary avarice.

None of the several hundred thousand words in the English language expresses adequate condemnation of those who alighted along with the vultures to capitalize misfortune and prey upon the victims of the calamity which befell Florida, bringing devastation and wholesale death to the nation's winter play place.

It should not be necessary to stop the work of rehabilitation more than a few minutes to afford the soldiers on guard opportunity to put the profiteers out of business and in this emergency to seize their stocks for distribution to the destitute, leaving the matter of compensation to be reckoned later.—Toledo Blade.

The birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sigler, of Franconia avenue, the day before, was reported by the Star.

The Star stated that the mortality report for September showed twenty-two deaths.

Miss Emma A. Belt and Mr. John E. Tuttle were married by Rev. C. E. Rawley.

The Commercial club abolished its buffet, announcing that no more alcoholic beverages would be served to members.

The published report of the fire chief showed twenty-four calls, but only $2,500 loss.

Richwood was waging a hot wet-or-dry fight.

The Star told of the death of Charles O. Howison, aged eight-two, who was instantly killed, near Prospect, the day before, when his horses became frightened and he was thrown to the ground, the heavily-loaded wagon passing over him.

Miss Leda V. Brobeck and Mr. John F. Koenig were married by Rev. Joseph Reinicke.

A marriage license was issued to Cora S. Himmiger and Zilow C. Foos.

Mrs. Mary E. Stearns and Mr. Samuel S. Breese were married by Rev. D. H. Bailey.

Changing Seasons.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

"I have several friends," writes Mr. H. J. Rothenberger, of Centreport, Long Island, "who as well as myself would like to have an authentic answer to the question whether a radical change has come over the weather in recent years. People who have resided on Long Island for forty years claim that in severity the winters of the last three years can not be compared with those of thirty years ago. They tell stories of snow storms that covered the ground to the depth of five feet and they think the winters are becoming milder owing to some cause of whose nature they would like to be informed. Some think that the increasing use of radio has something to do with it."

In reply to which it may be said that undoubtedly seasons are variable, more or less from year to year, and to a notable degree in long periods, which themselves are not regular. Various cycles of thirty years, forty years, seventy-five years and still others, have been supposed to occur, in which the seasons run through a gamut of changes but there is no conclusive evidence that any definite cycle really exists. If there be any, the probability is that the changes accord with the variable state of the sun. Certain atmospheric phenomena, such as magnetic storms and auroras have so often coincided with sunspot maxima that one can hardly doubt that there is a casual connection. The weather vagaries of this and other recent years have happened during such a maximum, and similar phenomena have accompanied sunspot maxima in the past. Moreover, careful investigation has shown that the radiation of the sun is variable in intensity in a manner strikingly accordant with its condition as to spottedness. In a few instances it has been believed that particular weather changes could be ascribed to particular outbursts of sunspots. In such cases, however, the sunspots are not supposed to be the active causes of the effects felt on the earth, but only themselves the indications of deeper-lying disturbances in the body of the sun.

A spot suddenly blackening the face of the sun might be compared to the smoke from an unknown gun discharged toward the earth. This idea of a kind of bombardment from the sun with electric grape-shot has actually been set forth in detail. It has been affirmed that certain solar outbursts, betrayed by the appearance of spots on the white disk, have been followed after a certain interval of time by electro-magnetic excitement and magnetic storms on the earth, the interval being occupied by the electrons in traversing the gap of 93,000,000 miles that separates us from the sun.

It has also been pointed out that occurrences of this kind are never observed except when the spots break out in such latitudes on the sun as to correspond radially with the direction of the earth.

If these disturbances really are responsible for seasonal variations on the earth, there should, of course, be a close correspondence in time between the spot period and the weather cycles. In some respects statistics do show a striking correspondence of this kind; but there are discordant observations enough to keep the question still in abeyance, especially as to details.

The average sunspot period covers about eleven years from one maximum to the next. But some believe there are combinations of these periods into longer cycles, in one case of some thirty or thirty-five years, at the critical points of which disturbances of extraordinary power occur. This, if correct, might serve to explain the long period changes that many persons think they have observed. As to the influence of radio on the weather, it may be put out of court, being, at least at present, purely imaginary.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Oct. 1 — Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and half filled the bath tub with cracked ice and plunging into it turned blue, which affrighted me so I sat about chattering like a baboon and looking foolish most the morning.

So for a bite with a gentleman who lives in a roof penthouse and Ed C. Hill, the gazetteer, there and also an exotic lady who lives in Constantinople, but whose name I can not spell or pronounce. And there was much aloof high-blown talk which eventually turned to the subject of pretzels and conversation became general.

In the evening for a motor ride to Easthampton and had an iced drink on the Irvin Cobbs' verandah and John N. Wheeler and wife and some others there and Irvin showed us his collection of Indian pictures. How late to bed and fell asleep reading of Marco Polo.

Criminals like proverbial birds of a feather, flock together in New York. There is a block on west Forty-Ninth street that is the hangout of auto thieves. Pickpockets have their rendezvous on Fourteenth street. The Times square section is a fertile pasture for confidence sharps and crooked gamblers. Shoplifting ladies seek the seclusion of suburban towns. Professional beggars have a roost on Bleecker street and the gun-toting gorillas have the lower East Side for their base. Circus grafters, when not on the road, are to be found along Tenth avenue. Cheap dope peddlers in Chatham square.

In proportion to numbers, it is said, pickpockets suffer the least from arrest. Their calling is the most furtive of all criminal activities. Unless they are caught in the act, it is rare they are taken in hand.

Without, it is our criminal department talking again, the "fence"—the depot for thieves' loot—thievery would be a comparatively profitless calling. A crime hunter would rather nab the proprietor of a fence than a dozen well-known criminals. They usually camouflage their business with an air of respectability. To appearances they may be conducting a reputable clothing or jewelry store, a restaurant or hotel. There are some in expansive offices with titles of "Architect," "Real Estate," and such other worthy occupations gilded on frosted doors.

At the Seventy-Second street subway station one morning I saw a pickpocket, who had been caught in the act, a woe-begone fellow down at heel and out at elbow. He was in grip of a stalwart plain clothes man and his sickly white pallor and obvious twitching from cocaine made him about the most abject creature one ever saw. Riding to the next station across from him one could not help but be impressed by the slimness and remarkable grace of his hands. They had the extraordinary nimbleness seen only on talented violinists and pianists.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

It is strange what a high price the grumbler, the crab, the grouch, the pessimist, is willing to pay for the satisfaction it gives him to grumble. Every one of us knows that if we give away to expressions of ill-feeling, bodily or any other kind, we begin to feel worse and are worse. No surer way of making ourselves unhappy than by complaining. When we are gloomy and grumble we make those who care for us unhappy. And yet there is a kind of ignoble satisfaction in being miserable and making others miserable. That's what we have to fight.

REPUBLICANS DENY CHARGES BY DAVEY

Tells Democratic Candidate To Prove Reports on Expenditures

Columbus, Oct. 1—A challenge to show where Myers Y. Cooper spent one cent more in his primary election campaign than was reported to the secretary of state according to law was issued today to Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic nominee for governor, by Harry D. Silver, Republican state campaign manager.

Records at the offices of Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown credited Cooper with having spent $3,093.21 and Cooper for governor committee, through Harry D. Silver, chairman, with spending $57,263.72.

Silver's challenge was prompted by recent published statements in which Davey was said to have claimed that Cooper spent $25,000 during his preprimary campaign and would spend a similar amount prior to the November election, making $500,000 in all.

"I am astounded that a man who aspires to the governorship of Ohio would stoop so low as to base his entire campaign for that office on hearsays and whispers on what it is said that Cooper has or has not done," Silver continued.

"If Mr. Davey is sincere in ridiculous charge that Myers Y. Cooper spent $250,000 in primary election why doesn't he present his evidence and have proper action brought? Doesn't he realize that this is a criminal offense?" Silver asked.

A further challenge to Davey to come out in the open in his attitude on the presidential candidate was voiced by Silver.

"While I'm on the subject of Mr. Davey I'd like to know what his real attitude is on the presidential campaign," said Silver. "Following out his plan of a whispering campaign his followers are telling rural voters that Davey is not in sympathy with the Al Smith platform while in other centers among Smith followers they have pledged Davey's support.

"In his primary campaign Mr. Davey, following this plan of carrying two ends against the middle, urgently sought the endorsement of the anti-Smith element in Ohio. Then upon receiving it immediately spread word among Smith followers of his endorsement of Smith," Silver declared.

"I believe the public is entitled to know just where he does stand. Mr. Cooper has repeatedly pledged his whole hearted support to the Republican candidate for president — Herbert Hoover. Will Mr. Davey support the Democratic candidate or continue the two-faced campaign?" Silver asked.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME ON E. CENTER ST

Fire of unknown origin ignited a waste paper basket in the kitchen of the home of Ralph Bensley, 108 East Center st. at 9:37 o'clock this morning and caused damage estimated at $50. SEPTEMBER FIRE LIST RUNS HIGH

Local Department Answers 27 Calls, 14 More Than Last Year

Fire loss in Marion during September showed an increase of $1,930 over the loss for September 1927 according to the report completed by Fire Chief J. J. McFarland today. Fourteen more alarms were run in during September, 1928 than during September, 1927.

The total fire loss last month was $4,300. The damage done by fire during the same month last year amounted to $2,370. Twenty-seven calls were made on the city fire department during the same month last year.

A fire that destroyed the roof of the home of Fred J. Eaton, 213 Pearl st. when sparks from the chimney started the flames was September's biggest fire. Loss was estimated at $2,000.

Jack Raymond, 161 Superior st., orchestra director at the Grand theater was the second heaviest sufferer from fire damage during the month. A fire in his garage totally destroyed a 1928 Chevrolet sedan, clothing, and the garage itself. Loss amounted to $1,200.

No alarms were reported over the week end according to Fire Chief McFarland.

Dr. Brown's Appeal Ranked As Leading Issue Before General Church Convention

Galion Resident's Request for Reinstatement as Bishop Overshadows All Other Questions Coming to Episcopalian Meeting, Brooklyn Minister Declares

[illegible], Oct 1—The appeal for reinstatement of Dr. William Montgomery Brown of Galion, deposed bishop of the Episcopal church, will be the outstanding issue before the general convention of the church when it meets in Washington this month, according to an article written by one of the country's best known Episcopal pastors, the Rev. William Albert Nichols, of the Church of Ascension, Brooklyn.

The Rev. Mr. Nichols' review of the Brown case is written under date of Sept 30 from New York City and appeared in today's issue of the Cincinnati Enquirer as a special dispatch to that paper.

Keeps Up Fight

Since being ousted from his place as an official of the Episcopal church Dr. Brown has been residing in Galion and in that time has continued his fight for reinstatement.

The Enquirer article by the Rev. Mr. Nichols reads as follows:

Overshadowing the troubles feared over the articles of religion, the divorce question and general changes in the book of Common Prayer, the General Convention of the Episcopal Church which is to meet in Washington, D. C. next month faces a fight that may pull into it many of the Modernist clergymen throughout the United States.

The stormy petrel of the church for several years, Dr. William Montgomery Brown, one time Bishop of Arkansas and for three years deprived of holy orders, is preparing to demand his restitution of rank and dignity or to insist that those who believe along similar lines with him be treated as he was and deposed likewise.

'Camouflage' Alleged

In his appeal which will be presented to the General Convention he declares his conviction that not a few prelates and other clergy simply camouflage their opinions by theological paraphrase but that they have no more idea that the Christ was virgin born than he has, yet the very articles which they demand shall not be expunged from the Prayer Book state categorically that the Lord was born.

Dr. Brown does not retract in any particular the statements in his book Communism and Christianism which drew upon him two trials for heresy and the sentence of deposition which the House of Bishops [illegible]. He states that he will class a Jewish [illegible] with Santa Claus and [illegible] has no more idea that He was a [illegible] person than Uncle Sam is each. He [illegible] however that he did not have a fair trial, as he denies a literal interpretation of language of the Book of Common Prayer [illegible] the basis of what [illegible]. This he says was the position taken by the [illegible] both trial [illegible] in dealing with Dr. Brown puts the matter squarely up to the general convention.

Basis of Appeal

"It is not to justify himself," he says, "or to be so placed that I may pass the remaining few years I live in the communion of the church to which all has been given unstintingly." He avers that his appeal is based upon much broader lines. It is for humanity, he says, which refuses to be restrained within the narrow limits of an exploded theological interpretation. If the deposition stands the world and the church will part company further, he thinks, and if he is restored this action will hearten those who look to us as the interpreters of such as he claims.

"In brief the following is the crux of Bishop Brown's belief which is what liberal minded thinkers also believe, according to his contention:

"Marxism is correct in its opposition to religion if it be regarded as a belief in a supernaturalistic God, Bible, Church, Heaven or Hell, but none of these beliefs have anything to do with religion.

"Religion is the desire and determination to make the most of life by having it as long, useful and happy as possible.

"Jesus is a sun myth evolved from the god sun myth to fit in with the helps of the owning master class of the Christians and the Holy Ghost serves to [illegible] it that the slave class be kept in ignorance.

"There is no rational doubt about the fictitious character of the divine Jesus."

Among the regular clergy of the Episcopal church, particularly those who will be deputies to the General Convention, none would be drawn into comment about Dr. Brown's challenge. "It will be soon enough to talk about it when it comes up on the floor of either house there," is the universal comment.

LECTURE-RECITAL GROUP SPONSORS APPEARANCE OF QUARTETTE HERE

Brahms Quartette

ONE of the most remarkable collections of music found in America is the library of the Brahms Quartette pictured above which will appear here Monday, Oct 8 at the Star Auditorium as the opening number on the winter program of the Marion Lecture Recital club

The repertoire contains the works of the Italian composers of the seventeenth century the old English madrigalists and particularly the German masters of the romantic school The Brahms Quartette collection contains a wealth of music which has never been brought before the public and as a result the program will delight music lovers who have tired of the commonplace

To be noted among their numbers are the following music numbers of Italy France, England Scotland and America, many of which have been arranged especially for the quartette by Deems Taylor, Harry T Burleigh and others Arrangements made by the leading composers are being added from time to time to the collection

Quartette Personnel

The quartette Claribel Banks and Louise Osborne sopranos and Nancy Hitch and Elinor Markey, contraltos have perfected an ensemble which presents the best in vocal chamber music for four women's voices

Mrs James G Woods, president of the local club, announced today that course tickets may be purchased from Mrs Eugene H Morse 265 Bellefontaine av or that single admission tickets may be purchased at Bartlett's Drug Store and from any club member

The course tickets include three artists concerts and eight recitals all carefully chosen and offering the best in musical circles

DRAMATIC STORY OF AMAZING ADVENTURE

CHAPTER 39

[illegible] the two [illegible] eyes to Jim [illegible] been [illegible] that there was [illegible] in the [illegible]

[illegible] more, everything was [illegible] to Delmar's [illegible] to confess the unwit[illegible] had practiced and [illegible] it had been [illegible] And on [illegible] more [illegible] moment [illegible] I laughed [illegible] Delmar. I'm so glad [illegible] something [illegible] Some one besides me [illegible] Renshaw. It [illegible] all the good in [illegible] hearty laugh [illegible] young man—but—I [illegible] not be wholly unprece[illegible] your doctor ever warned [illegible] blood pressure [illegible] Blake with a start [illegible] rot! [illegible] laugh [illegible]

[illegible] was—for some [illegible] of his own," said Delmar. [illegible] could not be wholly un[illegible] I have laughed at you [illegible] in some of your more [illegible] moments."

"[illegible] your privilege, sir," said [illegible] with an effort. "But I'll be [illegible] anyone like this fellow [illegible] for no one knows [illegible] it—"

"[illegible] I know very well [illegible] from," said Delmar. "We [illegible] on the same [illegible] this." He scowled [illegible] who was still smiling.

[illegible] Blake only [illegible] every [illegible] Jim [illegible] the best out of the [illegible] [illegible] Delmar [illegible] Blake's offer [illegible] I don't [illegible] for a small [illegible] a larger one that [illegible] to some extent [illegible] In other [illegible] worth [illegible]

"[illegible] how much time you can [illegible]," said Blake, savagely. "Excuse [illegible] Mr. Delmar—but that is so. And I'll allow exactly one minute. After that my offer is withdrawn. Come—what do you say, Renshaw?"

"I say no," said Jim. The die was cast; this time the Rubicon really was crossed—and there was no way to retrace his steps. "If this contract is worth that much to you it's worth more to me!"

"Bravo!" said Delmar. "Spoken as I hoped you'd speak! I would not have said a word to influence you, but I would have been disappointed had you answered otherwise—and so, I suspect, would have been another member of my family, even more impulsive than myself, even more given to the vice of hasty judgments."

"That's your last word, is it, Renshaw?" said Blake.

"Yes."

Blake stared at him.

"You damned fool!" he said, and turned on his heel, without another word and went out.

Delmar looked after him with a sigh.

"I'm afraid Blake doesn't like you."

[illegible] makes [illegible]

"I'm [illegible] after that I don't [illegible]" Delmar [illegible] "If—ah, we [illegible] worry about that." [illegible] laugh [illegible] I think he [illegible] too far [illegible] I imagine that he was engaged to [illegible] I am told on the [illegible] certain [illegible] to the reading of which I am addicted—because as you may have [illegible] they are the only [illegible] that one of the minor benefits of pro[illegible] in the [illegible] I am [illegible] I think it is possible [illegible] to the gains of young [illegible] are [illegible] as to what [illegible] if they are well paid. If the worst comes to the worst—"

Jim grinned as he looked at Irene's father. Never had he known a man with whom he had so swiftly come to have so complete and sympathetic an understanding.

"However, I have a feeling that it will not," said Delmar. "You inspire a curious but very complete sort of confidence in me, Renshaw. I think you are one of those terrible dogged fellows who get their way come hell or high water—isn't that the saying?"

He sighed.

"As for me—I'm nobody," he said. "Except for the fortunate accident that made me so rich that I wasn't even tempted to take care of my own affairs—in which case I should infallibly have lost every penny I possessed—I would be lucky to be able to keep myself alive from day today outside the poorhouse. You on the other hand—but, shall we get to work? I'll have them in with the papers—"

He pressed a button on his desk. To the clerk who answered he gave an order. In a moment a dapper man entered carrying certain documents at which, as he saw them, Jim looked with troubled eyes.

"You have the deeds?" said Delmare. "Mr. Renshaw—Mr. Coleman."

Coleman bowed.

"They are ready—according to your instructions, Mr. Delmare," said Coleman. "But—Mr. Prentice asked me to call to your attention the fact that considerably more than the price named has been offered for the land."

"I was aware of that—you might tell him that I am occasionally informed about matters of that sort." For the first time Jim heard, in Delmar's voice a note of reproof, even of annoyance.

"Quite, sir," said Coleman. "Your instructions were followed to the letter—the price represents the cost of the land to you plus interest at 6 per cent since that time, taxes and other expenses."

"Look here!" said Jim. "Mr. Delmar—I think you're being fantastically generous—"

"Nothing of the sort," said Delmar. "Look at it this way. You have an idea as to the handling of this land. I think it's a sound idea. So do you. We may be wrong. In that case, you stand to lose—"

"If I were paying you spot cash that might apply," said Jim. Suddenly he had an inspiration. "Look here—suppose we compromise," he said. "Suppose instead of selling me the land you sell it to a corporation in which you hold a certain amount of stock. Then if I make good, you'll have some of the profit—"

Delmar considered the suggestion.

"You'd feel better—" he said.

"Very much!" said Jim.

"Send for Bronson, please, Coleman," said Delmar. "I'm the most obliging fellow in the world, I do believe! I'll do it that way—and I'll keep 10 per cent of the stock, to have a sporting interest in the venture." He put up a hand to silence Jim's protest. "Not a word—not a word—or I won't take that!" he [illegible]

Bronson, the lawyer, came in. For a man confessedly uninterested in business details Delmar gave a surprisingly clear and simple set of orders regarding the corporation he wanted created.

"Rush it through!" he said, when he had done. "Mr. Renshaw, here, is to be president and treasurer—Coleman can be vice president—pick up some of the people here in the office and anyone Mr. Renshaw names for the other directors. You'll have complete control, of course, Renshaw. On the whole I think this is the best way. It may spoil a few of our young friend Blake's plans."

"I'd like to know the amount—the highest amount you've been offered for this land," said Jim. "Because—I'm going to see that 10 per cent of the profits we make is more than the difference between that and the price the corporation pays!"

To be continued

If you betray your secret to another you surrender your liberty into his keeping.

Jubilee's Pardner

* * *

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

YESTERDAY was Sunday, and it was almost cold when I went to the window to let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth in my shirttail. It is funny how summers are so warm and winters are so cold. I would think all days would be alike. When I had eaten breakfast I asked my [illegible] father said when I got a little older I would learn in school why winters are [illegible] as warm as summers. I asked him if after I had learnt about it there would be anything I could do about it, and he said there wasn't, so then I asked him what was the good of a fella almost studying his head off to learn something that he couldn't help after he had learnt it, and he said he didn't know, and then I turned to ask my father and he beat me to it and said I'd better stop my mouth as I did.

When I went to go out to get the [illegible] after being washed up and for Sunday school my father went out on the back step with me and put his hand on my shoulder and said he had found out about the house and wanted me to know that he thought I was a mighty fine boy. I said I guessed I wouldn't go to Sunday school today, and he said if I didn't I would stop a [illegible] strap with the seat of my pants. So that is the kind of a father I have got.

Feelie and I are never going to tell the bunch or anyone about the bank robbers because if it gets in the papers the robbers will think they have got to [illegible] us off to teach other people to not monkey with them, and Mr. Wagmore says he don't want anything to happen to us. So as a favor to him me and Feelie are going to try to not let anything happen to us.

Today was Monday. Next month will be Thanksgiving, which is much better than Valentine Day or Christmas or anything like that, because a fella don't have to give anyone anything, he just has to get his stummick full of turkey.

Banty's father is not using his truck. He was out last night and there was a skunk in the middle of the road, and he said he made up his mind to not run over it because he is always kind to dumb animals, so he steered to let the wheels go on each side of it, but he said the skunk didn't seem to understand because it began to broadcast as soon as the truck got over it, and it was a fast worker. He said if painters could work that fast they could paint a truck whilst it was going past them. He has taken his truck out to the top of a hill a long ways in the country to let the smell blow away, and he isn't afraid anyone will steal it. He says he can identify it.

I went to bed early.

Where Is the Fat of Yesterday?

Have you noted how fast excess fat, with men and women has disappeared in late years? Slender figures are the rule. Think what millions have gained in youth and beauty, health and vigor by that change.

A great factor has been a discovery made some 25 years ago. Medical research found a cause of excess fat. It lies in weakness of a gland which largely controls nutrition. Too much of the food goes to fat.

Modern physicians in treating obesity now feed that gland substance. And that is the main factor embodied in Marmola prescription tablets.

Marmola was perfected by a famous medical laboratory. Its chief factor is a gland food. People have used it for over 20 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told the results to others—the loss in weight, the gain in health and vigor. Thus, year by year, the use has grown to very large proportions. In the past year alone it has doubled.

The results are seen everywhere. Excess fat has been banished to a large degree.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. When fat departs and new vigor comes, you know exactly why. No hard work, no starvation. Just take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

Try this method which for over 20 years has brought new joys to so many. You owe that to yourself. Watch the gradual loss of fat. Enjoy the new energy that comes. You will be delighted. Don't wait longer. Get Marmola now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out of them get them at once from his jobber.

MT. GILEAD BOARD ANSWERS ACTION

Morrow County Man Asks Foreclosure on Harmony Township Land

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 1—An action filed in the common pleas court here Saturday by Amos Biggs against W. D. Driver asks the foreclosure of a mortgage on 92 acres in Harmony township for the collection of $3,169.07. Larry and Wieland are the attorneys.

Mary Caroline Davis filed an action in the common pleas court here Saturday against Mabel Rose Davis and Vern Davis Wieland asking partition of Kansas real estate in Morrow county. L. C. Willard is the attorney for the plaintiff.

The Mt. Gilead Board of Education filed an answer in the action in which they are named defendants by Clyde Thompson, janitor in the local schools last year. Thompson claimed in the petition that he was hired for 12 months at $100 per month and asked wages for the months of July and August which he claimed the board refused to grant him. In their answer filed Saturday, the board claims that the contracts were made but that Thompson had proved negligent and did not perform all the duties he should in acting as janitor. The board claims they had sent several written notices to Thompson requesting him to leave but he refused to do so until Sept. 1. They claim he has not performed his duties as janitor and ask that the petition be dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff.

F. D. Fate, receiver for Frank Dumbaugh and Addie Dumbaugh, filed a petition here Saturday against Frank Dumbaugh and others in the common pleas court in which they ask the marshaling of liens on personal property aggregating $2,077.73. Ben Olds is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Will not warp EDGWOOD Red Cedar Shingles

Re-Roofing Made Easy

Laying EDGWOODS right over the old roof is absolutely practical. Thousands of homes have been re-roofed this way. This method offers many advantages—no expense tearing off the old roof—no dirt or litter—no injury to shrubs or flowers—protection in the event of sudden rain storms during construction—and of greater importance is the double insulation, making your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. EDGWOODS are the one Red Cedar Shingle particularly adapted to re-roofing over old roofs as they are all Edge Grain ... will not warp ... force the old shingle tight to the sheathing and hold that position permanently. Your local lumber dealer will gladly give you an estimate on re-roofing with EDGWOODS. You will find the cost less than any substitute.

THE CONSOLIDATED SHINGLE MILLS of BRITISH COLUMBIA LTD.
907-8 Metropolitan Building
Vancouver, B. C.

Gentlemen:
Please send me your FREE "EDGWOOD HOME" booklet.

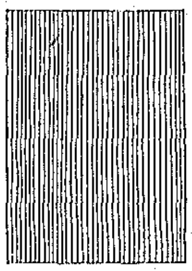
Name ________________

Address ________________

YOUR roof and your foundation are the two first essentials in the construction of your home. Nature created in British Columbia Red Cedar a roofing material that is immune to decay. From these centuries old trees the Consolidated Shingle Manufacturers have fashioned a superior shingle ... the best man can make. To enable you to identify this shingle they have trademarked it EDGWOOD

Note the Difference in the Grain of the Wood

EDGWOOD RED CEDAR SHINGLE



This is a 300% perfect shingle ... all heart ... all clear ... all edgegrain. Note the straight parallel grain of the wood. Sawn edgegrain they positively will not warp, cup or curl. They lie tight and flat to the sheathing for fifty years and more.

FLAT GRAIN RED CEDAR SHINGLE

This shingle is sawn flat-grain. Note the irregular grain of the wood. This causes warping, cupping and curling. The flat-grain shingles are NOT EDGWOODS and should be used ONLY on temporary structures ... NEVER on roofs of residences.

Durability: Endowed by nature with a time-resisting preservative, EDGWOOD Shingles are immune to decay. They will last fifty years and more if laid with zinc-clad or other rust-proof nails.

Appearance: The overlapping butts of EDGWOODS create luminous high lights, deep shadows and soft pencilled lines. No other building materials absorbs and holds color so well.

Safety: Sawn edgegrain ... positive assurance against warping ... EDGWOODS lie tight and flat to the sheathing ... giving maximum resistance to brands or sparks. Fire tests by the State Firemen's Convention of Iowa, proved conclusively, that EDGWOOD Red Cedar Shingles offer greater resistance than many so called fire-proof roofings. And, it is worthy of note, that only .0327% of residential fires originate on roofs.

Insulation: Each square inch of Red Cedar possesses 6,000 to 10,000 minute air-cells. This, with three overlapping butts, create in EDGWOOD Shingles a sidewall or roof that possesses 10 to 47% greater insulating qualities than any other standard exterior building material. The statistics of the Bureau of Industrial Research reveals that EDGWOOD Red Cedar Shingles on sidewalls and roofs will save the average home-owner from $2,427.60 to as much as $4,807.60 in fuel expenditures over a period of thirty years. It is significant, that the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Chicago Fire Department, says: "Most of the sub-zero fires are caused by the efforts to heat homes comfortably by forcing the heating plants or stoves beyond the point of safety." This is the result of using improper insulating building materials.

Economy: The cost of constructing an EDGWOOD roof is but $15 to $20 more than the cheapest composition roofing, or a flat-grain shingle, while the durability is from two to five times greater. Compared with the better grade asbestos, slate or tile, the cost of EDGWOODS is less than half and the EDGWOOD Roof will last fifty years and more. The savings on sidewalls is 10% and upward over any other material.

MT. GILEAD BOARD ANSWERS ACTION

Morrow County Man Asks Foreclosure on Harmony Township Land

Mt Gilead Oct 1—An action filed in the common pleas court here Saturday by Amos Figgs against W. D. Driver asks the foreclosure of a mortgage on 92 acres in Harmony township for the collection of $3,169.05. Perry and Wieland are the attorneys.

Mary Caroline Davis filed an action in the common pleas court here Saturday against Mabel Rose Davis and Vera Davis Wieland asking partition of 67 acres in Morrow county. J. C. Stillwell is the attorney for the plaintiff.

The Mt Gilead Board of Education filed an answer in the action in which they are named defendants by Clyde Thompson janitor in the local schools for last year. Thompson claimed in the petition that he was hired for 12 months at $100 per month and asked wages for the months of July and August which he claimed the board refused to grant him. In their answer filed Saturday the board claims that the contracts were made but that Thompson had proved negligent and did not perform all the duties he should in acting as janitor. The board claims they had sent several written notices to Thompson requesting him to leave but he refused to do so until Sept 1. They claim he has not performed his duties as janitor and ask that the petition be dismissed at the costs of the plaintiff.

I. D. Tate receiver for Frank Dumbaugh and Addie Dumbaugh filed a petition here Saturday against Frank Dumbaugh and others in the common pleas court in which they ask the marshaling of liens on personal property aggregating $2,077.77. Ben Olds is the attorney for the plaintiff.

SPONSOR PROGRAM

Young People Are in Charge of Grange Entertainment

The young people of Bethlehem grange, No. 1996, sponsored the program given at the meeting of the grange members Friday night in their hall seven miles south of here. L. B. Fidler, legislative agent, presided for a discussion of the resolution disapproving the use of pictures of women by manufacturers of cigarets in their billboard advertising. Members of the organization went on record as approving the resolution.

Mr. Sewell, of Hardin county, gave a short talk, taking the place of County Deputy Jay Stevenson, who was unable to be present. The program hour opened with a song, "America the Beautiful," by the young people, and Howard Hecker and Ralph Bender entertained with a dialogue, "A Barnyard Quarrel." A vocal solo, "Follow the Open Road," by Miss Mildred Hecker, was followed by a reading, "Si and I," by Miss Gladys Lyons, and a group of stunt songs by the girls. "Mistress and Master," was the title of a dialogue by Paul D. Smith and L. B. Fidler, and Mrs. K. W. Povenmire entertained with two violin numbers. Misses Wilma Rider and Mabel Robinson entertained with a dialogue, "The Cheerful Caller," [illegible] Price entertained with a vocal number, "Ramona," and the following boys took part in a dialogue, "Collectors Not Wanted": James McKinsey, Bernard Mason, Ralph Gerlin, Paul [illegible] and Fred Wilson. [illegible] Baker and Fred Wilson entertained with a musical number and the program hour concluded with a group of stunt songs by the boys. Miss [illegible] Schweinfurth presided at the piano for the musical presentations.

The following young people sponsored the program and social hour which followed: Misses Marie Bender, Margaret Mahaffey and Howard Hecker and Carl Berringer. The next meeting will be in two weeks when members of the [illegible] Brothers quartet and orchestra will entertain.

Re-Roofing Made Easy

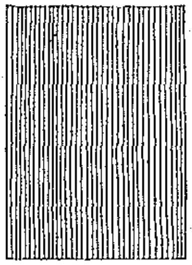
Laying EDGWOODS right over the old roof is absolutely practical. Thousands of homes have been re-roofed this way. This method offers many advantages—no expense tearing off the old roof—no dirt or litter—no injury to shrubs or flowers—protection in the event of sudden rain storms during construction—and of greater importance is the double insulation, making your home warmer in winter and cooler in summer. EDGWOODS are the one Red Cedar Shingle particularly adapted to re-roofing over old roofs as they are all Edge Grain ... will not warp ... force the old shingle tight to the sheathing and hold that position permanently. Your local lumber dealer will gladly give you an estimate on re-roofing with EDGWOODS. You will find the cost less than any substitute.

THE CONSOLIDATED SHINGLE MILLS of BRITISH COLUMBIA LTD.
907-8 Metropolitan Building
Vancouver, B. C.
Gentlemen:
Please send me your FREE "EDGWOOD HOME" booklet.
Name ____________
Address ____________

YOUR roof and your foundation are the two first essentials in the construction of your home. Nature created in British Columbia Red Cedar a roofing material that is immune to decay. From these centuries old trees the Consolidated Shingle Manufacturers have fashioned a superior shingle ... the best man can make. To enable you to identify this shingle they have trademarked it EDGWOOD

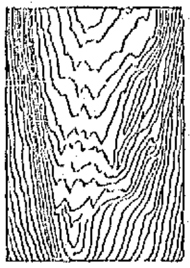
Note the Difference in the Grain of the Wood

EDGWOOD RED CEDAR SHINGLE



This is a 300% perfect shingle ... all heart ... all clear ... all edgegrain. Note the straight parallel grain of the wood. Sawn edgegrain they positively will not warp, cup or curl. They lie tight and flat to the sheathing for fifty years and more.

FLAT GRAIN RED CEDAR SHINGLE



This shingle is sawn flat-grain. Note the irregular grain of the wood. This causes warping, cupping and curling. The flat-grain shingles are NOT EDGWOODS and should be used ONLY on temporary structures ... NEVER on roofs of residences.

Durability: Endowed by nature with a time-resisting preservative, EDGWOOD Shingles are immune to decay. They will last fifty years and more if laid with zinc-clad or other rust-proof nails.

Appearance: The overlapping butts of EDGWOODS create luminous high lights, deep shadows and soft pencilled lines. No other building materials absorbs and holds color so well.

Safety: Sawn edgegrain ... positive assurance against warping ... EDGWOODS lie tight and flat to the sheathing ... giving maximum resistance to brands or sparks. Fire tests by the State Firemen's Convention of Iowa, proved conclusively, that EDGWOOD Red Cedar Shingles offer greater resistance than many so called fire-proof roofings. And, it is worthy of note, that only .0327% of residential fires originate on roofs.

Insulation: Each square inch of Red Cedar possesses 6,000 to 10,000 minute air-cells. This, with three overlapping butts, create in EDGWOOD Shingles a sidewall or roof that possesses 10 to 47% greater insulating qualities than any other standard exterior building material. The statistics of the Bureau of Industrial Research reveals that EDGWOOD Red Cedar Shingles on sidewalls and roofs will save the average home-owner from $2,427.60 to as much as $4,807.60 in fuel expenditures over a period of thirty years. It is significant, that the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Chicago Fire Department, says: "Most of the sub-zero fires are caused by the efforts to heat homes comfortably by forcing the heating plants or stoves beyond the point of safety." This is the result of using improper insulating building materials.

Economy: The cost of constructing an EDGWOOD roof is but $15 to $20 more than the cheapest composition roofing, or a flat-grain shingle, while the durability is from two to five times greater. Compared with the better grade asbestos, slate or tile, the cost of EDGWOODS is less than half and the EDGWOOD Roof will last fifty years and more. The savings on sidewalls is 10% and upward over any other material.

It is an open question whether the Orkneys and Shetland, which Prince George is to visit shortly, are really and legally part of the British empire. Originally they were not Scottish but Norwegian, with a population essentially Scandinavian in origin and it is almost [illegible] Scotland took them in 1468 in pawn for the payment by the king of Denmark of his daughter Margaret's dowry to James III.

The money was never paid so Scotland kept the islands but as late as 1668 plenipotentiaries assembled at Breda to discuss the matter and de[illegible] [illegible] only that the right of redemption had lapsed but that it could not be legally taken away. The original sum plus interest for four and a half centuries might well be more than any country would care to pay for the islands but only a few years since as great a legal authority as Lord Salvesen expressed an opinion that they remained merely an unredeemed pledge with Uncle Britain. — Manchester Guardian.

St. Louis Cardinals Better Defensive Team, Walsh Says In Review

HARDING DEFEATS GALION, 19 TO 7

ZINN IS STOPPED BY LOCAL TEAM

M'Aninch Scores Three Touchdowns in Long Runs; Marion Weak on Pass Defense and Orangemen Complete Six; Findlay Here Next Week

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

AFTER holding the small end of the score in the first half, Harding's gridders came back in the final round of the opening football scrap of the 1928 season like true defenders of the Red and Black to defeat Galion, 19 to 7, here Saturday.

As a result of that victory, Marion is for the time being at the top of North Central league standings. This position will be held until next week when the four remaining teams will go into action. The Harding-Galion contest was the only loop fray scheduled last week.

It was the ability of Bohyer's machine to hold up in the pinches that stopped Galion. Although able to register many gains, the great Zinn, Galion's star back, was unable to break through the local defense for any scores.

Start Out Poor

Marion made a very poor showing in the first half after scoring a touchdown two minutes after the contest had been started. It was in the first half that Galion stood out as the best team. The Orangemen made five of their six first downs before the half ended while Marion was unable to chalk up one.

Perry started the contest by kicking to Galion. Schupp returned it 15 yards placing the ball on the 25 yard line. Zinn carried the pigskin off right tackle for five yards and on the next play a 15-yard penalty was given Galion. The Orangemen punted and McAninch, picking up the ball on the 42-yard line, crossed the goal for the first score of the game. McAninch missed the try-for-point.

One noticeable weakness of the Red and Black team was their inability to cope with the aerial attack unleashed by Galion in the second quarter.

Scores In Second

After blocking a Marion punt, Galion started its march for a touchdown. Two completed passes and smashing attacks on the line resulted in the ball being placed into position to score. Then Zinn made an eight-yard pass to Schupp over the goal line to tie the locals. Another pass by the same combination placed Galion in the lead. When the half ended the score stood 7 to 6.

After the sorry exhibition in the first half in which the nervousness of green players stood out, Harding started the last half like a different team.

In the first half Galion had possession of the ball most of the time. Things changed in the final period, however, when Marion played headsup ball scoring two touchdowns.

Runs 12 Yards To Score

Harding started the third quarter by kicking to Galion. After Zinn and Switzer failed to gain through the line, Galion punted to Castner. With McAninch and Miley carrying the ball, Harding advanced down the field to the 12-yard line when the former skirted left end for a touchdown. McAninch again failed to make the try-for-point.

The balance of the period found neither team able to make gains of any consequence. Galion started out the third quarter by punting 10 yards outside the field. Castner carried the ball on three plays, his net gain being one yard. From a punt formation McAninch went off tackle for a touchdown running 30 yards. Miley kicked the extra point.

Harding spent most of the last period in punting, keeping the ball out of dangerous territory to protect their lead. With the exception of Wise, all second string men were sent into the lineup during the last few minutes of play. With the reserves playing, Galion was only able to made one first down and that was by a forward pass.

Although lacking experience, the Marion eleven should develop into tough opposition for any team in the North Central league. Coach Bohyer will start workouts tonight in preparation for the Findlay battle here next Saturday.

INDIANAPOLIS HOLDS LITTLE SERIES LEAD

Two Victories Chalked Up In Four Starts; Return to Home Lot

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 1—The Indianapolis Indians, champions of the American Association, are back in their own lot today with two games won in this year's little world's series, while their foes, the Red Wings of Rochester, managed to win but one game in the four played at Rochester. One of the four games was tied.

Yesterday's game was a 5 to 1 victory for Indianapolis with Swetonic beating Herman Bell. Bell is one of the best hurlers who has ever worked in the International league, but members of the Red Wings say he pitched his arm off in the last Sunday's double header at Montreal, just a week before he was beaten yesterday.

40,000 TICKETS

That's Dope for Series In New York

New York, Oct. 1—With all of the reserved seats for the first two games of the world's series at the Yankee stadium sold last week, there are still 40,000 seats available for the local fans. According to the Yankee officials there are 20,000 unreserved grandstand and an equal number of bleacher seats to be sold the day of each game.

The purchasers of these tickets must enter the park immediately, this ruling having been deemed necessary by Judge Landis in order to curb speculators.

DR. T. J. SMULL TO TALK AT RECREATION BALL BANQUET HERE

Loving Cup To Be Presented City Champs; Pennants to Winners

DR. T. J. SMULL, executive secretary of Ohio Northern university at Ada and a football player in the days when the sport was a real man's game, will be the principal speaker at the annual recreation ball banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday night.

Dr. Smull will talk on football and sports in general. He was secured for the local banquet by John H. Clark, president of the Marion recreation ball commission.

In addition to the presentation of a silver loving cup to the Eagles lodge, city champions, pennants will be awarded to the winners of the four leagues, Epworth Juniors, Calvary, C. D. & M. and the Eagles.

Tickets have been distributed and around 200 recreation ball players and fans are expected to attend.

SAY COMBS TO PLAY IN WORLD'S SERIES

Report Doctor With Saying Wrist Not Fractured In Spill

New York, Oct. 1—Dr. George King, surgeon, could not be reached early today for confirmation of a report quoting him as saying that Earle Combs, star center fielder of the New York Yankees, would be able to play Thursday in the first game of the world series.

After Combs crashed into a concrete wall in Detroit last Thursday while chasing a fly ball, it was declared that his right wrist was fractured and that he would be out of the post-season classic. Dr. King was reported to have stated following an examination of the injured wrist that there was no fracture and that Combs could participate in the series.

GODFREY TO FIGHT

New York, Oct. 1—Big George Godfrey, the well-known black menace, makes his final appearance of the year in New York this week. The chocolate heavyweight will pick on Roberto Roberti at Ebbets field on Wednesday evening and the general feeling is that George will render Roberti horizontal in any round that he feels the urge to fight.

GAME NEXT SUNDAY CALLED OFF; LOCALS BEAT COLUMBUS, 4-3

Year Success For Team; Financial End Is Not So Good

THE Marion Eagles baseball club, the team that faithfully represented the city on the diamonds during the past year, is no more. That was the word passed out to the players Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park where the locals defeated the Columbus Keystones, 4 to 3, in what turned out to be the finale of the season.

No reason was given for discontinuing play in spite of the fact that a contest was scheduled for next Sunday. However, it would not take more than one guess to hit the exact reason. It was a successful season as far as games won and lost were concerned. Financially, it was a flop.

After the exhibition put up by the team yesterday, one cannot blame the Eagles management for calling off the final contest. The Eagles should have won by a one-sided score from the Columbus colored boys. As it was, the locals managed to come through with a one-run victory in the last of the ninth inning.

The Keystones made six errors while Kerner was dealing out seven hits. Why he was let off so easy will probably remain one of the unsolved mysteries of the season. As a pitcher he would make a good bat boy. At that he made several members of the local aggregation look foolish striking out seven men.

For six innings Longshore hurled a nice game for Marion allowing but two hits and no runs. He was hit hard in the final innings when the Keystones tied the score at three all.

With two men on, Bacon broke the tie in the last of the ninth with a long drive to right field fence scoring Longshore.

HARDING ON TOP IN N. C. O. LOOP

For the time being, the Red and Black gridders will reign alone at the head of the North Central Ohio league, following Harding's victory over Galion, 19 to 7. Saturday's contest was the only league game scheduled last week.

The standings:

Team	G.	W.	L.	Pct.
HARDING	1	1	0	1000
Galion	1	0	1	000
Mansfield	0	0	0	000
Ashland	0	0	0	000
Shelby	0	0	0	000
Bucyrus	0	0	0	000

In non-league games last week, Mansfield defeated the Tiffin Junior Order, 7 to 0; Bucyrus walked over Loudonville, 27 to 0; Shelby won from Newark, 12 to 0; New London upset Ashland, 41 to 6.

One league game is scheduled for Saturday. Mansfield will play at Bucyrus. Harding is slated to meet Findlay here.

STATE PREPARES FOR OPENING OF SEASON AGAINST WITTENBERG

Temporary Varsity Wallops Reserves, 75-0, in Practice Tilt

COLUMBUS, Oct. 1—With the selection of his team more fully determined following a practice match Saturday when the temporary varsity walloped the reserves by a score of 75 to 0. Coach Jack Wilce of Ohio State university was planning an intensive training program today for the opening of the Buckeye grid schedule with Wittenberg at the Ohio stadium, next Saturday.

The practice session Saturday climaxed a two-day training period which candidates for the Scarlet and Gray have been undergoing since Sept. 15. Coach Wilce's starting lineup for the game with the Lutheran squad will in all probability be a majority of the athletes who were subject to commendation on their playing Saturday.

Outstanding offensive threats in the practice game who may cause Big Ten opponents of Ohio State considerable worry were Byron Eby, Chillicothe halfback, Cyril Surina, Cleveland end, Alan Holman, Fairfield, Ia., quarterback and Charles Coffee, Salem halfback. Eby and Surina led the attack against the Reserves and scored three touchdowns each.

The Ohio State varsity defensive wall was composed of the veteran and All-American Leo Raskowski, of Cleveland at left tackle; Joseph Ubellvi, of Lorain at left guard; Fred W. Barrett, of Lansing, Mich., at center; William Young, of Kenton, at right guard and Richard Larkins, of East Liverpool, at right tackle. Robert Ille, of Wapakoneta and Surina started the fray at the ends.

Women voters outnumber men in four constituencies in England, and in two of these, Cheltenham and one Glasgow division, the present M. P.'s are bachelors.

ALL BIG TEN TEAMS WILL SEE ACTION IN GAMES ON SATURDAY

Notre Dame-Wisconsin Fray Will Headline Oct. 6 Schedules

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 — With all 10 teams of the Western conference scheduled to get into action this Saturday against foes of greater or lesser importance, the third week of football practice grind today got under way with a bang.

Headlining the middle west card for Oct. 6 will be the Notre Dame-Wisconsin game at Madison. It will be the Badgers' opening clash. The Irish cracked their season Saturday with a 12-to-6 victory over Loyola of New Orleans.

None of the Big Ten teams is pitted against a conference member. How many conference teams will meet the fate of Chicago last Saturday remains for the fickle goddess of gridiron fortunes to decree.

Chicago Defeated

Chicago elected to "warm up" in a twin opening bill against South Carolina and Ripon. The Southerners defeated the Maroon regulars 6 to 0 and then Ripon trounced the Reserve, 12 to 0. The upset was a stinging blow to the Stagmen and their host of loyal followers.

South Carolina won because the southerners executed a better attack, showing the result of more practice. The Maroons played well but reflected a lack of condition. The upset was comparable to the defeat of Navy by Davis Elkins in the east and the trouncing of Stanford by the Olympic Club on the Pacific coast.

Indiana was the only other Big Ten team to open its season Saturday. The Hoosiers had better luck, winning over Wabash by the score of 11 to 0.

Big Ten Games

The battered Maroons will try their luck this week-end against Wyoming at Stagg Field. Northwestern will open against Butler at Evanston.

Illinois will open at home against Bradley; Ohio State will entertain Wittenberg, and Ohio Wesleyan will journey to Ann Arbor for Michigan's opening game. Monmouth will engage Iowa at Iowa City; Creighton will tackle Minnesota; DePaul will "warm up" Purdue and Oklahoma will journey to Bloomington for Indiana's second game of the season.

SAD SAM JONES MUST SMILE, SAY VILLAGERS

Woodsfield, Oct. 1—Sam Jones, ace moundsman for the Washington American league Senators, is going to smile this fall if the home folk hereabout have anything to say.

A homecoming for Sam has been arranged for Oct. 6 when Sad Sam will pitch for the home team nine against an all-star nine of American leaguers.

Sam won 17 and lost 7 for the Senators this year.

The Beallsville band will come over to help things along.

As you read history, you see that greed arrogance and vanity made all the trouble—the three meanest traits.

YANKS' OUTFIELD IS BEST OF TWO

Wait Hoyt Is Mainstay of New York Pitching Staff with Pennock Out of Picture; Sherdel May Be Called Upon To Hurl Three Games

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles by Davis J. Walsh, comparing the respective merits of the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals, who will meet in the 1928 world series, starting on Thursday.

* * *

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 — De-bunking neatly and quickly done while you wait, will be the slogan today, as the writer sets out to attempt a comparison of the two world series entries, the Yankees and Cardinals, with as little of the customary bunk as the rather stringent by-laws of the serious thinkers' association will permit. There will be no man to man comparisons, for when these aren't actually futile, they are at least funny. What difference is here that one man may happen to be better than his rival in the position they fill? Baseball isn't decided on that basis. It is a team game, if ever there was one.

Baseball, like any other contest known to man, is made up of two cardinal departments of play. They are attack and defense, and de-bunking pro-non-essentials as we go, we will proceed along these lines forthwith.

St. Louis Has Good Pitchers

Pitching is defense, for the most part; so the Cards are away to a running start, with Pennock not likely to appear in any of the games and the Yankee staff consisting largely of Waite Hoyt and—er—yes, Waite Hoyt. The Cardinals can match him with any one of several men, Alexander, Sherdel and Haines, and have at least two pitchers equally good, to counter with the following day.

A local "handicapper" has said that it isn't in the book for Alexander to repeat his successes of the 1926 series against the Yanks. Perhaps not. But neither is it likely that the Yanks will repeat what they did to Sherdel, who didn't win a game, yet should have won two. Sherdel looks ready for the iron-man act in this issue, possibly pitching in as many as three games. He ought to win two of them.

Alex still is one of the greatest single-game pitchers of the pastime and could come back for another, if necessary. Perhaps it won't be. McKechnie should call at least three well pitched ball games out of Sherdel and Haines and this is regarding the matter from a most conservative viewpoint. Then there is Clarence Mitchell. I am aware that Clarence finished the season mostly on his hands and knees but that was against teams that knew all about him. The Yanks never have seen that left handed spitball and a new delivery always is good against a club of sluggers. Besides, if anything tends to cramp the Yankees' style, it is a left hander.

Pennock Not Ready

If Pennock was ready to work two of the games, Yankee pitching would appear more favorable. But the old champions gradually are falling apart and this happens to be one of the loose dingbats. Zachary is the only other first class pitcher left and Thomas isn't quite as young as he was three years ago, when he was much too old for the boyish bob. He still is quite a threat for one game but that should let him quite out

Heimach hasn't been much of a bet any time the Yanks needed a ball game these several months but he will have to go in there just the same. Pipgras, after a great rush in the early months of the campaign, couldn't get them out the rest of the way, barring one really fine performance against the Athletics.

Henry Johnson may fast-ball the situation from time to time but largely in emergencies, which figure to be somewhat frequent.

Since pitching is 60 per cent of the defense, it might seem that it isn't necessary to pursue our inquiry further. As a matter of fact, the defense behind the pitcher is the thing that makes the good ones look better and the bad ones worse than they could possibly be.

Wilson Best Catcher

The catcher, they say, makes or breaks his pitcher. Jimmy Wilson, of the Cardinals, who, barring injury will work all of the games, is one of the ranking catchers of baseball. And yet what have the Yankees, by way of rejoinder, Bengough, mostly ordinary, sometimes actually mediocre, never brilliant, one can't compare him with Wil*son, except to his disadvantage.* The Yanks have two more in Collins and Grabowski, but they are notorious for their eccentricities behind the plate Earl Smith, who probably won't catch a game of the series, is a better man than either of them. I have considered those mentioned solely as workmen as defensive catchers, not hitters.

The two infields are taken up on the same spirit. Again the Cards score. Bottomley, Frisch, Maranville and High or Holm possibly wouldn't out-rate Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig and Dugan or Robertson, if all was well. But Lazzeri, with almost a useless arm, is getting by on raw courage alone and he is the man who is supposed to pivot them into double plays. Dugan has gone bad, too, and Robertson, his under study, is neither better nor worse than Robertson. At the same time, I will take Thevenow in preference to Durocher or Gazella, the Yanks' utility men.

The disintergration, therefore, has cut into Yankee efficiency in another vital sector.

Yanks Have Best Outfield

It isn't through yet. A few days ago, Combs crashed into the wall in Detroit broke his wrist and is out of the series. If he was playing centerfield, there would be no question as to which had the better outfield defense. As it is I think I will give it to the Yankees, anyhow, although much of this notion depends upon Ruth rounding into form the next few days. If he still is hobbling about as he was a week ago, there is nothing for it, of course, but to concede the issue to three sound outfielders, however indifferent their play may be at times

Hafey possibly is a stand-off with Meusel in left field, each having his weak moments. Douthit in center is a better fly-chaser than either Durst or Paschal, substitutes for Combs, but a sound Ruth will go and get a lot of balls that will get away from Harper or Blades.

However, the entire scheme of defense leaves the Cardinals with quit the better of the debate.

Early bird gets the worm and the early cat gets the bird.

I WAS TOLD THAT YOU HAD GREAT EXPECTATIONS FOR THE COMING "WINTER" —
WELL, YES.
WHAT ?
FOLKS FROM DOWN NORTH.
WHOM, MAY I ASK ?
OH, A COUPLE OF "ERMINES," A RED, A WHITE, AND A BLUE FOX, A SEAL, AND A POLA BEAR.
ARE THEY COMING AS "FUR" OR IN "PERSON" ?
HEY, LOOK OUT DOWN THERE, OR SOMEBODDA IS GONNA GET A HURT

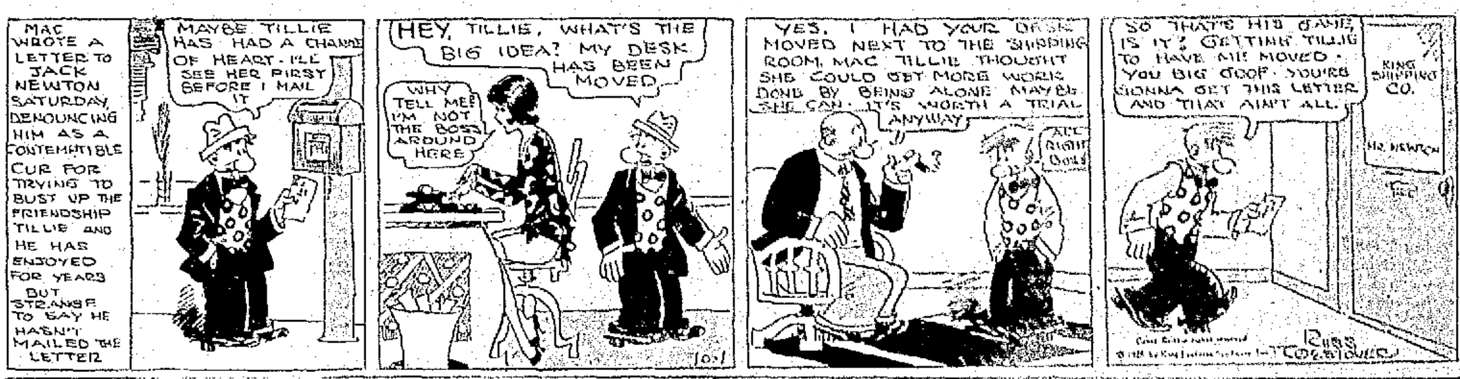
IT'S MAC'S MOVE

BY RUSS WESTOVER



MAC WROTE A LETTER TO JACK NEWTON SATURDAY, DENOUNCING HIM AS A CONTEMPTIBLE CUR FOR TRYING TO BUST UP THE FRIENDSHIP TILLIE AND HE HAS ENJOYED FOR YEARS BUT STRANGE TO SAY HE HASN'T MAILED THE LETTER
MAYBE TILLIE HAS HAD A CHANGE OF HEART - I'LL SEE HER FIRST BEFORE I MAIL IT
HEY, TILLIE, WHAT'S THE BIG IDEA? MY DESK HAS BEEN MOVED
WHY TELL ME? I'M NOT THE BOSS AROUND HERE
10-1
YES, I HAD YOUR DESK MOVED NEXT TO THE SHIPPING ROOM, MAC. TILLIE THOUGHT SHE COULD GET MORE WORK DONE BY BEING ALONE. MAYBE SHE CAN. IT'S WORTH A TRIAL ANYWAY
ALL RIGHT BOSS
SO THAT'S HIS GAME, IS IT? GETTING TILLIE TO HAVE ME MOVED - YOU BIG GOOF - YOU'RE GONNA GET THIS LETTER AND THAT AIN'T ALL

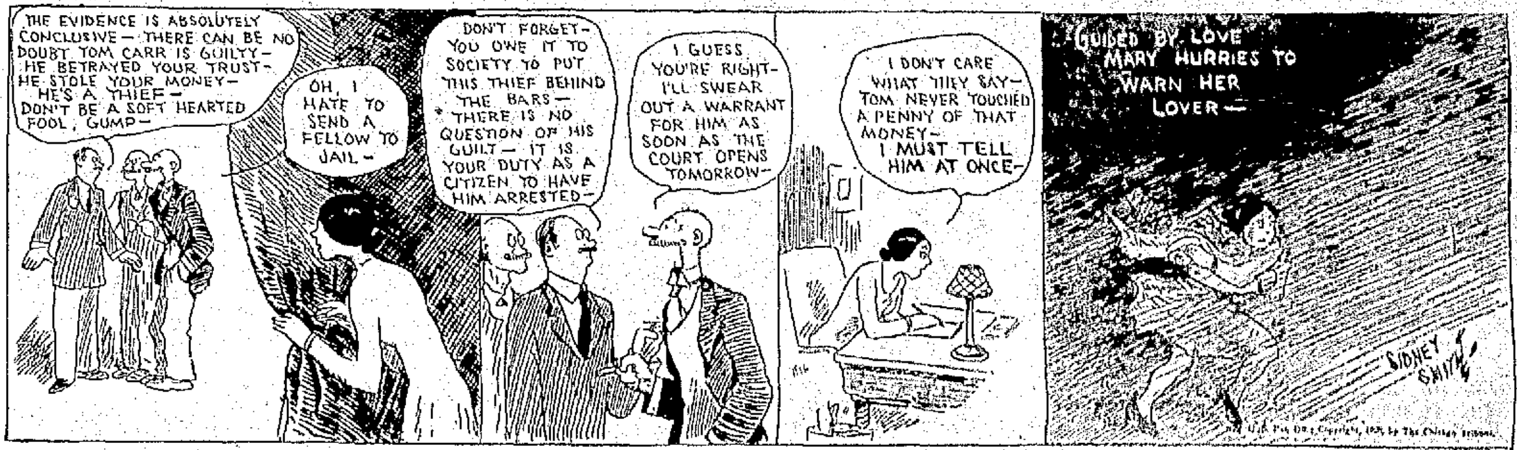
SHERIFF, ARREST THAT MAN

BY SIDNEY SMITH



THE EVIDENCE IS ABSOLUTELY CONCLUSIVE — THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT TOM CARR IS GUILTY — HE BETRAYED YOUR TRUST — HE STOLE YOUR MONEY — HE'S A THIEF — DON'T BE A SOFT HEARTED FOOL, GUMP —
OH, I HATE TO SEND A FELLOW TO JAIL —
DON'T FORGET — YOU OWE IT TO SOCIETY TO PUT THIS THIEF BEHIND THE BARS — THERE IS NO QUESTION OF HIS GUILT — IT IS YOUR DUTY AS A CITIZEN TO HAVE HIM ARRESTED —
I GUESS YOU'RE RIGHT — I'LL SWEAR OUT A WARRANT FOR HIM AS SOON AS THE COURT OPENS TOMORROW —
I DON'T CARE WHAT THEY SAY — TOM NEVER TOUCHED A PENNY OF THAT MONEY — I MUST TELL HIM AT ONCE —

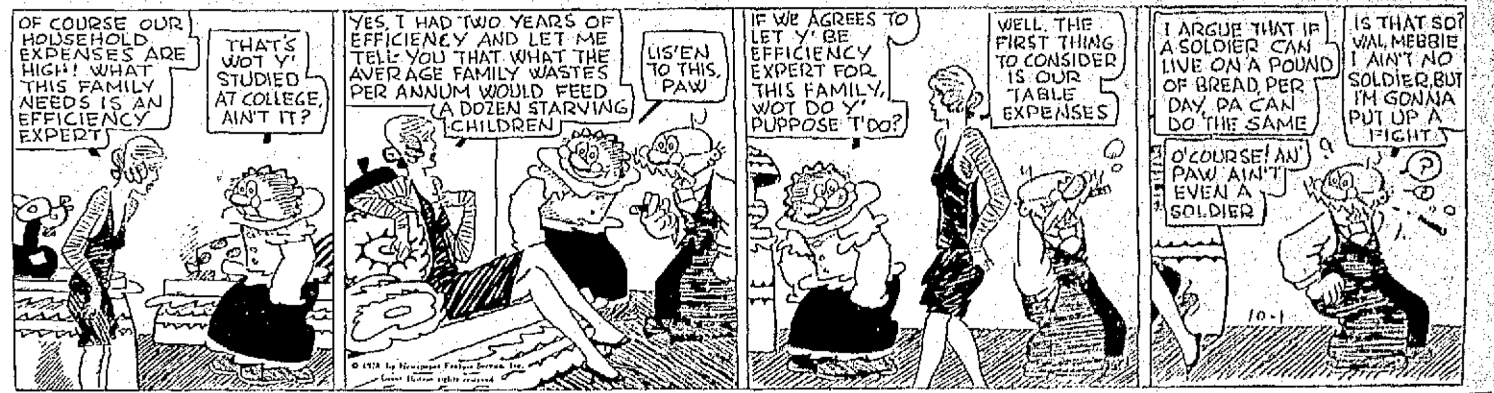
PAW FIGHTS A DRAFT

BY CLIFF STERRETT



OF COURSE OUR HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES ARE HIGH! WHAT THIS FAMILY NEEDS IS AN EFFICIENCY EXPERT
THAT'S WOT Y' STUDIED AT COLLEGE, AIN'T IT?
YES, I HAD TWO YEARS OF EFFICIENCY AND LET ME TELL YOU THAT WHAT THE AVERAGE FAMILY WASTES PER ANNUM WOULD FEED A DOZEN STARVING CHILDREN
LIS'EN TO THIS, PAW

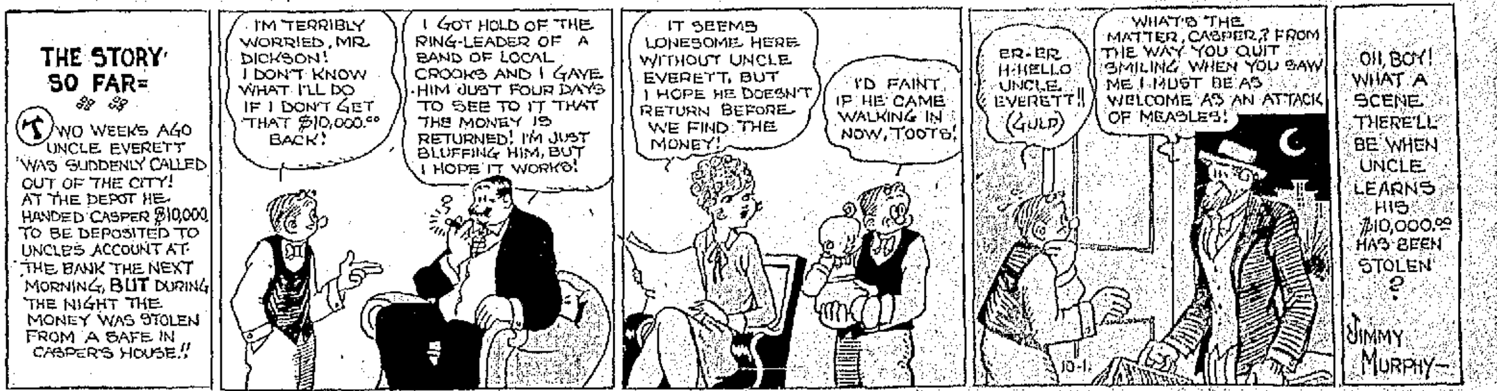
TOOTS AND CASPER

A COLD WELCOME

BY JIMMY MURPHY



THE STORY SO FAR=
TWO WEEKS AGO UNCLE EVERETT WAS SUDDENLY CALLED OUT OF THE CITY! AT THE DEPOT HE HANDED CASPER $10,000 TO BE DEPOSITED TO UNCLE'S ACCOUNT AT THE BANK THE NEXT MORNING, BUT DURING THE NIGHT THE MONEY WAS STOLEN FROM A SAFE IN CASPER'S HOUSE.!!
I'M TERRIBLY WORRIED, MR. DICKSON! I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'LL DO IF I DON'T GET THAT $10,000.00 BACK!
I GOT HOLD OF THE RING-LEADER OF A BAND OF LOCAL CROOKS AND I GAVE HIM JUST FOUR DAYS TO SEE TO IT THAT THE MONEY IS RETURNED! I'M JUST BLUFFING HIM, BUT I HOPE IT WORKS!
IT SEEMS LONESOME HERE WITHOUT UNCLE EVERETT, BUT I HOPE HE DOESN'T RETURN BEFORE WE FIND THE MONEY!
I'D FAINT IF HE CAME WALKING IN NOW, TOOTS!
ER-ER H-HELLO UNCLE EVERETT!! (GULP)
WHAT'S THE MATTER, CASPER? FROM THE WAY YOU QUIT SMILING WHEN YOU SAW ME I MUST BE AS WELCOME AS AN ATTACK OF MEASLES!
10-1
OH, BOY! WHAT A SCENE THERE'LL BE WHEN UNCLE LEARNS HIS $10,000.00 HAS BEEN STOLEN ?

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service of the City of Marion, Ohio, at the office of said Director, until twelve o'clock (noon) Thursday, October 11th, 1928, and will be opened and publicly read at twelve o'clock (noon) the same day for furnishing the necessary labor and material for constructing a pavement on East Walnut Street from Vine Street to Delaware Avenue.

Bids for labor and material must be separate and bidders are required to state explicitly the kind of material to be used.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied with a certified check on some solvent bank of Marion County, Ohio, in the sum of $500.00, to the satisfaction of the Director, as a guarantee that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured.

Should any bid be rejected, such check or money will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such check or money will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

Bidders are required to use the printed forms which will be furnished on application.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

PAGE-BOY SILHOUETTE

The page boy silhouette is strikingly new and charming. The line is a fitted one to the waistline where it is broken by contrasting bindings. Double tiers, longer and circular in the back, fly out from under this to give a suggestion of the little page boy hurring on his errands. Redfern develops this in black velvet, with gold bindings.

V-SHAPED COLLAR

The back of new fur collar coats will bear watching. A green velvet evening coat has double box pleats down the back and silver fox dipped to a V-shaped collar in the back. A tan velour coat has stone marten in a standing, scarf collar. One end of which passes through a slit in the back, comes back and hangs down in front.

HIS THROAT IS SORE

Old McTavish was not a mean man. No; he just knew the value of money.

"Say, doctor, hoo's beezness wi' ye the noo?"

"Oh, fair, fair."

"I s'pose ye're a deal o' prescribin' tae dae for coulds and' sair thrats?"

"Aye."

"An' what dae ye gin'rally gi'e for a sair throat?"

"Naethin', I dinna want a sair throat."

NOT QUITE READY

He—I've come to a conclusion.

She—What is it?

He—I realized today that I had been a bachelor for 38 years, and—

She—Oh, Jack, this is—

He—And I decided I'd had a good time and that I'd keep it up.

FOR MARRIED WOMEN

Cleveland—Married women have an equal chance with their unmarried sisters for employment by the city of Cleveland. "We do not regard committing matrimony an offense" says Major Ellsworth Jeffrey, secretary of the civil service commission. "A married woman is entitled to all the rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without restriction."

MARION ON ROUTE OF AIRPLANE PARTY

Ford Ship Carrying Prominent Columbus Men Circles Local Airport

Marion's new airport is on the map and this city is beginning to get advertising results from having an official landing field.

This became evident yesterday when all Columbus newspapers mentioned Marion and its airport as one of the points on the route of a Ford tri-motored airplane which carried a group of Columbus officials and citizens from Detroit to Columbus, Saturday.

One of the most interesting accounts of the trip was written by Major J. J. Thomas, of Columbus, whose log of the flight included the following item:

"11:20 a. m. circled Marion airport. Weather becoming cloudy and colder. A few minutes later we had an excellent view of the Harding memorial on the southern edge of Marion."

As evidence of the advantage of air travel, Mayor Thomas mentioned that it took the party eight hours to go from Columbus to Detroit by train and that the return trip by air was made in two hours.

The plane is the one in which Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh was taken to Mexico City during the Christmas holiday season, last year, to visit her famous son. It is also the one flown by Duke Schiller to Greenley Isle to rescue the marooned Bremen fliers.

The plane will be at Norton Field, Columbus, nine days, carrying passengers on educational tours.

MARION STUDENT IS ENROLLED IN BAND

Clark G. Keckler, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Keckler, Windsor st., has been enrolled as a member of the varsity band at Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, where he is a freshman.

Keckler, a graduate of Harding high school with the class of 1927, has had several years' experience in high school band and orchestra work.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

Chicago, Oct. 1—The bull corn deal, which has hung over the grain market for the last five months, has passed into history. It will be remembered for many a long day and not least vividly by the group that were in it.

The exit of the September future at under 90c was a sad conclusion to a speculative effort that required enormous enthusiasm, energy, persistence and, above all, plenty of money.

Now, a strange thing might happen. December corn, unstimulated by artificial "pep," might develop a strength wholly unlooked for by the trade in general. It might go higher even than the price at which the September future went out. On Saturday in the face of the great weakness in the September, December corn lost only one-quarter of a cent on the session.

Cheaper Now

It seems not unlikely that for months the demand for cash corn has been held down to the minimum. Buyers did not want to pay fancy prices if they could get corn cheaper later.

They can get corn much cheaper now and they may begin to take advantage of the situation and thus give to the deferred futures the basis for a sharp advance.

Cash corn that at the end of July was held when the contract price went out at $1.15½ was delivered Saturday as September corn when the price went out at 81c to 87½c.

That may be good merchandising, but it looks like bad speculation.

The deal in the September future has kept a good many prospective buyers of the deferred future out of the corn market for the last month at least. The open interest in December corn is large. There was no evidence on Saturday of any intention on the part of holders to begin letting go. If they maintain that attitude shorts may be forced to cover if the cash basis strengthens.

It is possible that broad buying of December corn will begin at the opening this morning. If it does it will find a market that may easily respond to upward influence of that buying.

The uncertainty concerning the September corn was undoubtedly an influence on the wheat market. The latter did not draw supporting buying on its early upturn, and the bulge blew out.

But the resistance wheat showed after the December touched $1.17 was impressive, and the way it came back to a firm close with only a very small net loss for the day suggested that bears should be careful about taking liberties with the short side.

The December future got down to where it received support recently when it turned very strong. It may again get support around the present level. If it does it could move up rapidly.

Rye eased off somewhat Saturday, but that market continued to have a strong undertone and never looked weak. Rye ought to go considerably higher, it would seem, if there is any general strength in the grain situation at all. The rye crop is short this year, and later in the season we will undoubtedly get news of crop failure in Russia and a small rye crop in Poland.

At present traders may operate with a good deal of caution, but as election day approaches there seems to be less and less likelihood of any big break in any of the grains. If any big move takes place it would seem more likely to be upward.

Gillis—No, the installment men will see to that.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Growers and wholesalers apparently are not aware that garden and field products are scarce on local markets, for shipments of any substantial size have not yet arrived here, retailers report. Home-grown crops of all descriptions are practically exhausted and retailers found it difficult this morning to obtain fresh supplies.

The small amount of garden truck obtainable, however, is all of the most excellent sort, being bought from wholesale peddlers who bring it in from the southern part of the state by truck.

Citrus fruits and bananas remained high and retailers expect no drop in price unless warmer temperatures ripen supplies in the wholesale warehouses and make selling necessary before the fruit spoils.

Four changes in the prices of fruits and vegetables were recorded here this morning. Bananas, formerly 10 cents a pound straight, may now be obtained at three pounds for 25 cents. Cauliflower dropped from 45 and 55 cents to 35 and 50 cents. Leaf lettuce fell away from 25 cents a pound to 20 cents a pound. Pumpkins went from 15, 25 and 30 cents each to 15 and 20 cents each.

Two price variations were reported in retail meat markets here this morning. Sausage increased from 20 cents a pound to 22 cents and pork liver decreased from 17 cents a pound to 15 cents.

BUILDING RECORD HIGHER THAN 1927

September Permits in Marion $13,470 More Than Total Last Year

With an $11,000 filling station and a bulk oil and gasoline depot and a six-flat apartment building, each costing $10,000, heading the list, Marion's building permit total for September showed a $3,470 increase over the record for September, 1927, although only two more permits were issued, according to a report completed by the city clerk today.

The building permit total for September was $93,470. The sum for the same month in 1927 was $80,000. Seventy-seven permits were issued during the last month and 75 during September, 1927.

A filling station to cost $11,000 to be built on the southeast corner of Barker and Center sts. by the Roxana Refining Co., was the largest single building permit for September. The same company will also build a $10,000 bulk depot on the Prospect pk. at the Pennsylvania railroad. This building is tied with another $10,000 structure for the second highest permit of the month.

Stewart G. Glasener, 150 Homer st., realtor and builder, will start construction soon on an apartment building to contain six four room apartments. This structure will be situated at the northwest corner of George and state sts. and will also cost $10,000.

BUCYRUS FOOTBALL GAME ENDS IN TIE

Large Crowd of Fans See Season's Opener at Park

Bucyrus, Oct. 1—The Tiffin Cornells football team met the local Ohio National Guards at Recreation park Sunday afternoon in the first pro football game of the season, and ended the game with a 0-0 score.

No long runs or big gains were made throughout the game, the teams being pretty evenly matched. A crowd of between three and four hundred fans attended the game. Another game with the Cornells will be scheduled later in the season, to be played at Tiffin.

The visiting lineup consisted of the following players: Lamb, Huth, Stell, K. Turner, Hending, H. Rotick, Hargent, Johnson, Wellman, Hand, S. Bargent, Mosey, Glink, G. Fair, S. Fair, O. Turner, Wineberry, Ribback and H. R. Rotick.

The local Guard was made up of the following: Wagner, Shumaker, Graham, Koch, Davenport, Link, Heldsilger, Quaintance, Lasher, Irving, Cox, Hull, Poulkus and Hus McMichael.

KENTON WINS FIRST CONTEST IN SERIES

Lingrel, Former Big League Hurler, Too Much For Belle Center

Kenton, Oct. 1—Ray "Brandy" Lingrel, former big league hurler, proved too much for the Belle Center Athletics at Idlewild park, Sunday afternoon, and they were handed a 9 to 0 defeat by the Kenton A. C.'s in the first of a three game series.

Lingrel pitched bang up ball, letting the visitors down with four lone bingles. The nearest Belle Center came to scoring was in the 11th frame when Sclenbeck, Marion catcher, slammed out a two-bagger. Grover Hartley, big league catcher and coach with the Cleveland Indians the last season, did the receiving for Kenton. He piled up three hits out of five times at bat and scored one of Kenton's runs.

Despite the one-sided score the contest was one filled with features and provided the large crowd of fans with many thrills. Manns, hurling for Belle Center, allowed 13 hits, fanned eight batsmen and issued one pass, while Lingrel struck out 12, walked one and allowed but four hits.

The second game with Belle Center is to be played there next Saturday.

With the acquisition of Lingrel, the Kenton A. C.'s now boast of one of the strongest teams in this section and have issued a challenge to any club in Northwestern Ohio.

Young Man Looks Over Tray in Store Whips Out Gun

Zanesville, Oct. 1—An affable young man, apparently a connoisseur, who buys jewelry in large quantities was being sought by police here today.

The youth appeared at the Watts jewelry store just before closing time Saturday night and asked to see some diamonds. He scanned the tray before him with interest. It held about $1,000 in sparkling gems.

"Guess I'll take them all," he decided and suddenly whipped out a pistol, scooped the contents of the tray into his pocket, rifled the cash register of $50 and fled.

ROBBERS TAKE $60,000 FROM WATCH PLANT

Gold Bullion and Cases Comprise Loot Obtained at Dayton, Ky.

Cincinnati, Oct. 1—Four robbers who entered the Wadsworth Watch Case Manufacturing Co., Dayton, Ky., across the river from here, handcuffed two night watchmen, forced open two safes and escaped early yesterday with estimated loot of $60,000 in gold bullion and watch cases, were objects of a widespread dragnet today with city and county authorities participating in the search.

The watchmen, William Thress and Edward Glip, told police they were surprised inside the plant late Saturday night and blindfolded and handcuffed before they got a good view of the four men. The robbers were considerate enough to leave keys to the handcuffs near the watchmen so that their release was easily effected when they were found Sunday morning by a day watchman.

How the robbers gained entrance has mystified police who have expressed the belief that the men had inside assistance.

SPECIAL SERVICES ON CHURCH PROGRAMS

Upper Sandusky Reformed Congregation Observes Rally Day and Harvest Home

Upper Sandusky, Oct. 1—With the advent of the fall season, activities began with renewed vigor in the various churches yesterday with programs outlined for the coming months.

Rally Day and Harvest Home services featured the religious program of Trinity Reformed congregation yesterday. Combined services of the Sunday School and church held in the morning included talks by William Bloom, Joseph Kinsley and C. P. Troup and the following musical numbers, Violin solo by Mary Border, trumpet and cornet duet by John Newell and Harold Halbedel and an anthem by the choir. Offerings at this service were turned into the building fund of the church and amounted to over $2,000. Miss Leah Jean Kotterman led the young people's service and the pastor, the Rev. George W. Good spoke at the night service upon the subject, "A Promise." Beginning next Sunday, the young people will meet in conjunction with the congregation at the night worship hour. A program entitled, "Crusading with Christ" which has been especially prepared by a number of young people's societies will be used in these meetings. Another announcement of interest made at yesterday's service was that the date for the laying of the corner stone for the new church located at Sandusky av. and Findlay st., will probably be Oct. 14.

Promotion exercises were held at Trinity Evangelical church, Sunday morning with a combination Sunday School and church service. Songs and drills were given by the children and talks by the department heads. Thelma Hoover was in charge of the young people's meeting and the Rev. L. C. Hoover preached at the night service upon the subject, "The Spirit of Life in Christ." Mrs. Eldridge Myers sang the solo part in the anthem by the choir.

Loyalty Sunday was observed at the Methodist denomination with the holy sacrament being administered in the morning by the pastor, the Rev. C. R. Williamson assisted by the Rev. J. W. Holland. At the night service an illustrated lecture on "Family Religion," depicting the influence of Christianity in the development of home was given by the pastor. A trio composed of Mrs. J. W. Holland, Miss Mabel Layton and Miss Elizabeth Peters sang. Next Sunday will be rally day with an especially arranged program in the morning and a service in charge of the men at night.

Subjects of two sermons delivered by the Rev. C. P. Betz at St. Paul's Lutheran church, yesterday were "The Lord's Interpretation of the Sabbath Law" and "Open Windows Toward Jerusalem."

One Spoonful Would Fill A Market Basket!

HERE is a secret for the benefit of one's inner system. There is as much good to a single spoon of plain pepsin syrup as in a whole basket of fresh vegetables!

You have heard how modern means fail to assist the peristaltic action so important to health. Make this up with a little syrup pepsin, and watch appetite, assimilation, and elimination pick up! It ought to improve 100% in a week, according to some doctors.

Don't give up rich foods, or go on a diet when this liquid vegetable corrective can put stomach, liver, and bowels in condition to handle anything that's eaten! Without the sign of distress, or a fear of constipation. You don't have to purge yourself to keep the digestive tract all clean and sweet. A ten-day test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will prove this.

And the test is at present free. Children are healthier and happier, and elderly people have a far easier time where this ideal combination of laxative herbs and pure pepsin is fully appreciated.

Dr. Caldwell first used this sure means of keeping the bowels free from accumulated waste back in 1875. Today, you couldn't find a druggist without this famous prescription, all put up and directions enclosed. Try it, and you'll know why!

A trial of this famous prescription costs nothing if you use the coupon.
